Last Fall's False Alert over Berlin Never Told to JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The alert touched off last fall by a false signal indicating a possible attack against the United States at the height of the Berlin crisis never reached the point that a danger signal was flashed to President Kennedy, informed sources said today.

Gen. Thomas S. Power, chief of the Strategic Air Command, ordered hundreds of nuclear bombers to be prepared to take off. But it was understood that at the time he did not inform Kennedy, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara or the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Nor, said the sources, did he give an alert order to crews of 54 Atlas intercontinental ballistic missiles arrayed in five bases. "It never reached the point where it was necessary to launch the ground alert force," the sources said.

Had it reached that point, they added, Power would have contacted Kennedy as well as his defense superiors.

In event of an alarm indicating serious trouble, the SAC commander normally would notify the President and the top command promptly. This would permit consultation on steps that could mean a difference between peace and war. If necessary, it would allow the nation's key military and civilian leaders to move swiftly to sheltered command posts.

Since the United States can expect only about 15 minutes warning of a missile assault, time is of the essence in preparing for a counterblow and for making decisions on whether to launch one.

In this case, sources said, Power reacted to a suspected difficulty in the communications system linking SAC headquarters near Omaha, Neb., with the two giant radar stations along the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System — BMEWS — in the far north and with Air Defense Command headquarters in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Regardless whether Power was "really scared" or not, there were indications some Pentagon officials felt he should have informed Washington.

The incident occurred before dawn one day late last fall. Officers on duty in SAC's underground command post were startled by signal lights indicating trouble at the BMEWS' station aimed toward the polar cap over which the Soviet Union would be expected to send its missiles in event of a surprise attack.

When officers tried to reach the Air Defense Command in Colorado, they found the lines were dead.

Power then ordered bombers at bases around the world to get set to take off with their hydrogen bomb loads.

SAC headquarters said Sunday the doubt lasted only a matter of seconds but a Pentagon spokesman insisted it was closer to four minutes, as pictured by published reports.

The spokesman said a SAC plane was in the air over Greenland at the time and reported back to headquarters that the BMEWS station had not been hit.

After communications were restored, SAC allowed the bombers to finish moving to the runways. Within 12½ minutes, half of the bombers were in position to take off—about 2½ minutes less than the ground alert target time.

The trouble in the communications system has been straightened out and measures taken to assure that it doesn't happen again.

Child Neglect Case Appealed To High Court

The Ohio Supreme Court today received an appeal, filed by Circleville attorney Kenneth M. Robbins, from Ross County decisions holding that a two-year-old girl whose father accidentally killed her mother is neglected and dependent.

Robbins appealed in behalf of the girl, Jerri, 2, and her father, Robert Hartinger of Circleville, serving a 3½ year sentence for involuntary manslaughter in the state prison at Bainbridge, Ga.

The shotgun death of the child's mother, the former Kate Miller of Chillicothe, occurred Dec. 20, 1960, in the Hartinger home near Ft. Benning, Ga., where Hartinger was stationed on Army duty. He pleaded nolo contendere (no defense) to the charge rather than stand trial and is now eligible for parole consideration.

Shortly after the fatal accident, Ernest Miller, Jerri's maternal grandfather, went to Georgia and obtained permission to return the child to Chillicothe. She has lived with the Millers ever since.

On March 25, 1961, Miller obtained a juvenile court decision that Jerri was a neglected and dependent child. The action was brought without consulting Hartinger, counsel said.

An appellate court affirmed the decision.

Governor Isn't Sure About Mail Service

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — When South Carolina Gov. Ernest Hollings showed up in person Monday to pay his filing fee to run for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Olin D. Johnston, someone asked him why he didn't mail the money in.

"I don't know about the mail these days," Hollings joked. Johnston is chairman of the Senate Post Office Committee.

Nasser, Rebel Chief Plead For Peaceful Syrian Solution

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and a new commander of the pro-U.A.R. army rebellion in northern Syria appealed today for a bloodless solution of Syria's military crisis. But the rebels declared they were strong enough to win victory.

A statement issued by Nasser's office in Cairo said the president, who lost the Syrian branch of the U.A.R. in a revolt last Sept. 28, is ready to exert every effort aimed at preserving Syria and averting bloodshed.

From the rebel-held Syrian city of Aleppo, 400 miles to the northeast, Col. Luayy Atassi broadcast a call to the military junta running the Damascus government for a truce.

Atassi announced that he has taken command of the forces in Syria's northern region which rebelled Monday against the junta and called for reunion with the United Arab Republic.

Atassi's truce appeal was broadcast shortly after Radio Damascus transmitted a junta ultimatum to the Aleppo garrison to surrender or be considered in mutiny and punished accordingly.

Implying that the junta already had troops afield, Atassi urged it to halt movements toward Aleppo to prevent bloodshed and preserve unity to the ranks.

The rebel radio, which described itself as the voice of the U.A.R., said the colonel had imposed a curfew on Aleppo "to pave the way for the northern command to settle the national problem quietly and wisely." To protect civilians, it said, the rebel garrison will not fire a shot "and we shall not raise our arms against our beloved army."

This followed an air raid scare. An hour before the announcement of Atassi's assumption of command, an excited voice on the rebel radio said "planes of secessionists"—meaning the air force of the high command in Damascus—were trying to bomb the Aleppo transmitter, 40 miles south of that city. The speaker appealed to the U.A.R. to send planes and paratroops to help the rebels.

Atassi canceled the appeal. "We ask our Egyptian brethren to be patient and postpone now sending any reinforcements because our military position is strong and we can resist until victory," Atassi said.

Nasser's subsequent statement in Cairo was pegged to the air raid story. The statement said Nasser is prepared to take a hand in the parties concerned in Damascus, Aleppo and other civilian and military commands agree.

Presbytery Report Rips 'Rabid Right'

NEW YORK (AP) — A report condemning "right wing extremism" in the United States has been adopted unanimously by the Presbytery of New York, which represents Presbyterian churches in the Bronx and Manhattan.

The report, adopted Monday, took a strong position against communism but charged that the John Birch Society, the Christian Anti-Communist Crusade and other members of what it called the "rabid right" have caused a "rift in our free society."

Among other things, the Presbytery added, the right wing extremists waste ammunition on the wrong targets, use standards of evidence that are "amateurish, opportunistic" and make ridiculous charges.

Segregationist Awaiting Word

Interview with New Orleans Cleric Sought

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—A segregation leader, Mrs. B. J. Gaillot Jr., is awaiting word on her plea to talk with Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel about a letter which she says threatens her with excommunication.

The dark-haired mother of three had led her Save Our Nation, Inc., segregationist group in picketing the prelate's home and chancery since his office announced a week ago that pro-church schools in the archdiocese would be desegregated next fall. However, she said she personally would refrain from further demonstrating until she gets her audience with the prelate.

State Rep. Rodney Buras appeared to have retreated on the segregation question after saying last week that he opposed the action even to the extreme of being excommunicated.

Buras, who received one of the letters, which a chancery spokesman labelled a paternal admonition, met with the archbishop Monday.

He emerged from the session saying he would abide by Church laws and decisions. Buras said he would remain emphatically opposed to racial integration of all schools.

"However, as a member of the Roman Catholic Church, I must abide by its laws and decisions pertaining to the diocese in which I live," he said.

The chancery had no comment on Buras' audience with the 82-year-old archbishop.

Mrs. Gaillot declined to disclose the contents of the letter she received. "The letter was marked private and confidential and I'll keep it that way until the archbishop refuses to see me. But if I don't get the audience by Friday, I'll make the letter public, along with other correspondence which might be interesting," she told newsmen.

7 Indicted In Stock Mart Probe

NEW YORK (AP) — A father-son team of brokers, expelled a year ago from the American Stock Exchange, has been indicted by a federal grand jury on new charges of conspiring to manipulate and sell unregistered stock.

The pair, Jerry Re, 65, and his son, Gerard, 39, were accused of a $5-million swindle of Swan-Finch Oil Corp. stockholders.

Indicted with them Monday were five others including Lowell W. Birrell, former president of Swan-Finch, who fled to Brazil in 1958 in advance of federal charges involving more than $13 million in stock frauds.

U.S. Atty. Robert M. Morgenthau said the Res used their position as specialists in the common stock of Swan-Finch to control the price of that stock for Birrell on the American Exchange and to distribute Birrell's stock to the public.

Birrell, who is under indictment in both state and federal courts on multiple stock fraud charges, acquired control of Swan-Finch in 1954. Two months later, the Res became specialists in the firm's stock on the exchange.

Operations of the Res triggered the shakeup last year of the American Stock Exchange, after the first probe in 23 years of a major securities market.

5 Contracts Due On Waterworks Job

Circleville's Waterworks Improvement project will be comprised of five contracts, Public Utilities Director Ervin Leist announced today.

Leist said the job contracts will consist of: 1. water lines installation; 2. erection of a 750,000 gallon elevated storage tank; 3. foundation work for the storage tank; 4. a well to supplement the city's water supply; 5. construction of a new iron removal plant.

According to Leist, all phases of work are scheduled to be under contract by mid-summer. Total completion is anticipated by July of 1963.

Present plans indicate the storage tank, well and water lines will be completed by the end of this fall. The new plant, to be located northwest of the city, will require about a year for completion.

PLANS for the water lines and tank have been completed and currently are in the hands of the Ohio Department of Health for approval. Leist said plans for the other phases are in the process of completion. The plant and well sites were approved by the Department of Health prior to purchase of the land.

Leist explained that initial steps in the $750,000 project will depend on time elements necessary for legal procedures such as legislation and advertising for bids.

The utilities director said a trial period set up under a new rate increase here last year has indicated sufficient revenue will be produced to finance the entire improvement.

Steel Pact To Give New Jobs to Many

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Several thousand jobs will be created by the new vacation and retirement plans of the new steel labor contract, says a high official of the United Steelworkers Union.

Marvin Miller, union chairman of the Human Relations Commission, told newsmen at a contract briefing session Monday the improved vacation benefits alone will provide the equivalent of 6,000 to 8,000 full-time jobs.

He said the retirement plan would add many more jobs.

Miller said the impact of the new jobs will be felt next year after the vacation and savings plan and the longer regular vacation benefits become effective.

Under the vacation and savings program, an employee will receive one additional week of vacation for each two years worked after 1960. Regular vacations will be increased one week.

The new retirement portion of the pact is based on a so-called "nudge plan" that penalizes workers who don't retire after they reach age 65.

The new contract, which calls for no hike over the current $3.28 an hour scale for basic steelworkers, is expected to be signed Friday.

Miller added that he did not expect any difficulties in negotiating with other steel firms besides the 11 major companies.

"I don't know what would cause difficulties," he said.

Astronaut Gift Homes Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government officials said today the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is looking into acceptance of furnished $24,000 homes by the seven Mercury astronauts.

The homes were offered by the Houston Home Builders Association and the astronauts' business adviser announced acceptance.

One government official, asking not to be quoted by name, said the matter is entirely in the hands of NASA, and that the White House has not been consulted or taken any initiative in the case.

NASA presumably is inquiring into the propriety and legality of the acceptance of the homes.

The space agency is building in Houston a $90-million center for manned space flight, and the astronauts are expected to move to that area this summer.

Warm Trend Seen In Plains States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There were a few scattered patches of light rain and snow flurries, but fair weather prevailed in the major part of the nation today.

It was chilly in many sections of the Midwest, in New England, along the Atlantic coast and across the Florida peninsula.

But warmer air appeared on the way. A warming trend was reported in the plains states with temperatures from 10 to 20 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier. It was 48 in Chardon, Neb., compared to 20 Monday morning.

The warmer air was expected to spread eastward to the Atlantic seaboard but more cool weather was indicated for the northern and middle Atlantic coastal states.

Liquid Hydrogen Slated as Fuel

Vehicle Could Orbit 8,500-Pound Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —After months of frustrating delays, the initial test flight of the high-energy Centaur space rocket is set for Friday.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the two-stage rocket will be launched on an intended ballistic trajectory lasting 15 minutes. The vehicle should reach an altitude of 300 miles before plunging back into the Atlantic Ocean, 1,175 miles from the starting point. No payload will be carried.

The test will provide the first flight data on how powerful liquid hydrogen will behave in space. This supercool fuel, which must be kept at a temperature of 423 degrees below zero, provides 40 per cent better performance than chemical fuels employed in present U.S. rocket engines.

Two liquid hydrogen engines with total thrust of 30,000 pounds drive the second stage of the 107-foot Centaur. The first stage is a modified Atlas missile with 367,000 pounds of thrust. This combination is capable of placing 8,500-pound satellites into earth orbit, landing 2,300 pounds on the moon, or hurling 1,300 pounds to Mars or Venus.

These weights are considerably greater than the capability of this nation's biggest present space booster, the Atlas-Agena B. Centaur is expected to fill a gap between Agena B and the more powerful Saturn class of boosters being developed.

Problems encountered in developing liquid hydrogen as a propellant delayed the launching nearly a year. NASA feels the troubles have been licked, but officials do not expect a perfect flight on the first try.

Ignition of the second stage is not a primary objective. Officials are more interested in how liquid hydrogen operates in the weightless environment of space.

A television camera, designed to snap a picture every two seconds, has been mounted on the forward bulkhead of the hydrogen tank to observe what happens to the hydrogen — whether it curls up in a ball, sticks to the side of the tank or becomes a gas. More than 500 channels of information will be radioed during flight.

The findings will set the pattern for future Centaur research firings, at least seven of which are planned before useful payloads are carried. Liquid hydrogen also will be used on upper stages of Saturn and later Nova space rockets.

Rice Crop Saved From Red Raiders

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —Vietnamese troops and U.S. Army helicopters have successfully held off Communist raiders while farmers harvested their rice crop in a remote section of central Viet Nam.

The commander of the U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, Gen. Paul D. Harkins, said only that because of the security operation, farmers were able to bring in the crop without interference from the Reds who try to replenish their food supply with raids on the fertile valleys of Quang Ngai Province 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

That's why Ashland (population 465) didn't have a candidate for mayor in today's city election, according to one resident.

Rebels Raid Moslem Clinic

9 Patients Killed In Hospital Beds

ALGIERS (AP)—A band of Secret Army Organization gunmen stormed into a Moslem clinic today and shot nine of the patients to death on their beds, police reported.

Eight other patients of the clinic were gravely wounded.

The 15 terrorists also exploded a charge in the European director's office, heavily damaging much of the building.

A police spokesman said it was the most brutal outrage committed by the Secret Army Organization since it began its terrorist campaign to sabotage the peace agreement between the French government and the nationalist rebels.

The Secret Army Organization is known as the OAS.

A source close to the secret army said the victims probably were members of the Moslem National Liberation Front. Police said nearly all the patients in the clinic were under treatment for ailments not connected with the Algerian war.

Elsewhere in Algiers, European gunmen killed three Moslem pedestrians and wounded several others.

Three secret army agents raided the head office of the government-owned Algerian railroads and got away with $320,000 in Algerian currency.

Two French soldiers were killed and several wounded Monday in a clash with a band of Moslem deserters from the French army 50 miles east of Oran, the French army command announced. It said seven of the deserters were killed.

Terrorists killed 10 persons and wounded 26 in Algiers and Oran Monday, authorities reported. Of the dead, five were European and five Moslem. All but one of the wounded were Moslems.

Parcel Post Rate Hike Bid Is Doubled

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department has doubled the amount of increase in parcel post rates it is asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve.

The new request, submitted Monday, would raise parcel post rates 12 per cent instead of the 6 per cent requested last January. Postmaster General J. Edward Day, noting that the law requires revenues to be within 4 per cent of the cost of service, said the department is losing about $122 million a year on present parcel post rates.

He Gets Paid To Burn Up Millions

NEW YORK (AP) — Lots of people figuratively burn up money. Russell W. Goble makes an occupation out of it.

For him it's just part of a day's work to set fire to securities valued at $10 million, $20 million or even $30 million. Of course, they have all been canceled and carefully checked before the torch is applied.

For two years the 50-year-old Goble has done the crematorium work for the Chase Manhattan Bank. And he never has lost a night's sleep over the thought of paper once worth so much going up in flames.

What's his reaction? "Well, it gets pretty hot up there when you're burning," he said. "Anyhow it's a detail, a job to be done and I guess I'm over-see of it at this end."

Banks are careful about destroying canceled securities because if they fall into unauthorized hands they could cause the issuing party untold administrative troubles.

Just about every week a collection of the carefully checked, canceled securities is loaded into padlocked steel trunks and taken to the Chase Manhattan's new office building in the financial district. They are whisked non-stop to the 61st floor by elevator.

Electric shredding machines chop the securities into bits and hurl the pieces into a special furnace.

When the furnace is full Goble, a veteran of 34 years service with the bank calmly sets fire to a whole bond—face value $100,000, perhaps—and tosses it into the shredded securities. A gas burner in the rear of the furnace makes sure every bit of paper is consumed. A wire mesh screen covers the flue to prevent ashes from escaping.

Besides Goble, two bank porters and an authorized witness watch the cremation.

"We generally figure about one hour for each of the trunks and when it's a four-hour job it sure gets hot," Goble said.

Incidentally, Goble observes: "I've never owned a bond except for government savings bonds."

Liz Taylor Set To Shed Fourth Mate

NEW YORK (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor Hilton Wilding Toad Fisher gave hints today she would add Burton to her lengthening surname. She will divorce her fourth husband, Singer Eddie Fisher.

The world got the news through a crisp, businesslike announcement Monday night by Louis Nizer, an attorney famed for handling major divorces of the past, hours after the beautiful Liz had summoned him to Rome.

"Elizabeth and Eddie Fisher announce that they have mutually agreed to part," the announcement said. "Divorce proceedings will be instituted soon."

The announcement brought crashing down a mountain of suspense built up in recent weeks by Miss Taylor's interest in her "Cleopatra" costar Richard Burton, and Fisher's desperation in denying that a break was imminent.

Now there remain other suspenseful questions: will Burton, 36, become the 30-year-old actress' fifth husband? What of his wife, Sybil, and their two children, now sitting in seclusion in London?

There were reports that Mrs. Burton would fight any divorce action by her husband, and that she had pleaded with him through mutual intimates to give up Elizabeth.

Burton, British actor who as Marc Antony makes love to Miss Taylor in her film role of Cleopatra, has been openly escorting her in public during filming of the epic of the Nile.

Poll Tax Ban Bill OK'd by House Panel

WASHINGTON (AP)—A constitutional amendment outlawing the poll tax as a requisite in federal elections has been approved by a House Judiciary subcommittee and sent to the full Judiciary Committee where it is expected to meet with quick approval.

The measure approved Monday is identical to one passed by the Senate last week. It would amend the Constitution to wipe out the poll tax, which still is a federal voting requirement in five states—Virginia, Alabama, Arkansas, Texas and Mississippi.

Leist said the job contracts will consist of: 1. water lines installation; 2. erection of a 750,000 gallon elevated storage tank; 3. foundation work for the storage tank; 4. a well to supplement the city's water supply; 5. construction of a new iron removal plant.

According to Leist, all phases of work are scheduled to be under contract by mid-summer. Total completion is anticipated by July of 1963.

Present plans indicate the storage tank, well and water lines will be completed by the end of this fall. The new plant, to be located northwest of the city, will require about a year for completion.

Plans for the water lines and tank have been completed and currently are in the hands of the Ohio Department of Health for approval. Leist said plans for the other phases are in the process of completion.

The plant and well sites were approved by the Department of Health prior to purchase of the land.

Leist explained that initial steps in the $750,000 project will depend on time elements necessary for legal procedures such as legislation and advertising for bids.

The utilities director said a trial period set up under a new rate increase here last year has indicated sufficient revenue will be produced to finance the entire improvement.

Steel Pact To Give New Jobs to Many

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Several thousand jobs will be created by the new vacation and retirement plans of the new steel labor contract, says a high official of the United Steelworkers Union.

Marvin Miller, union chairman of the Human Relations Commission, told newsmen at a contract briefing session Monday the improved vacation benefits alone will provide the equivalent of 6,000 to 8,000 full-time jobs.

He said the retirement plan would add many more jobs.

Miller said the impact of the new jobs will be felt next year after the vacation and savings plan and the longer regular vacation benefits become effective.

Under the vacation and savings program, an employee will receive one additional week of vacation for each two years worked after 1960. Regular vacations will be increased one week.

The new retirement portion of the pact is based on a so-called "nudge plan" that penalizes workers who don't retire after they reach age 65.

The new contract, which calls for no hike over the current $3.28 an hour scale for basic steelworkers, is expected to be signed Friday.

Miller added that he did not expect any difficulties in negotiating with other steel firms besides the 11 major companies.

"I don't know what would cause difficulties," he said.

Astronaut Gift Homes Studied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Government officials said today the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is looking into acceptance of furnished $24,000 homes by the seven Mercury astronauts.

The homes were offered by the Houston Home Builders Association and the astronauts' business adviser announced acceptance.

One government official, asking not to be quoted by name, said the matter is entirely in the hands of NASA, and that the White House has not been consulted or taken any initiative in the case. NASA presumably is inquiring into the propriety and legality of the acceptance of the homes.

The space agency is building in Houston a $90-million center for manned space flight, and the astronauts are expected to move to that area this summer.

Warm Trend Seen In Plains States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
There were a few scattered patches of light rain and snow flurries, but fair weather prevailed in the major part of the nation today.

It was chilly in many sections of the Midwest, in New England, along the Atlantic coast and across the Florida peninsula.

But warmer air appeared on the way. A warming trend was reported in the plains states with temperatures from 10 to 20 degrees higher than 24 hours earlier. It was 48 in Chardon, Neb., compared to 20 Monday morning.

The warmer air was expected to spread eastward to the Atlantic seaboard but more cool weather was indicated for the northern and middle Atlantic coastal states.

Liquid Hydrogen Slated as Fuel

Vehicle Could Orbit 8,500-Pound Satellite

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—After months of frustrating delays, the initial test flight of the high-energy Centaur space rocket is set for Friday.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the two-stage rocket will be launched on an intended ballistic trajectory lasting 15 minutes. The vehicle should reach an altitude of 300 miles before plunging back into the Atlantic Ocean, 1,175 miles from the starting point. No payload will be carried.

The test will provide the first flight data on how powerful liquid hydrogen will behave in space. This supercold fuel, which must be kept at a temperature of 423 degrees below zero, provides 40 per cent better performance than chemical fuels employed in present U.S. rocket engines.

Two liquid hydrogen engines with total thrust of 30,000 pounds drive the second stage of the 107-foot Centaur. The first stage is a modified Atlas missile with 397,000 pounds of thrust. This combination is capable of placing 8,500-pound satellites into earth orbit, landing 2,300 pounds on the moon, or hurling 1,300 pounds to Mars or Venus.

These weights are considerably greater than the capability of this nation's biggest present space booster, the Atlas-Agena B. Centaur is expected to fill a gap between Agena B and the more powerful Saturn class of boosters being developed.

Problems encountered in developing liquid hydrogen as a propellant delayed the launching nearly a year. NASA feels the troubles have been licked, but officials do not expect a perfect flight on the first try.

Ignition of the second stage is not a primary objective. Officials are more interested in how liquid hydrogen operates in the weightless environment of space.

A television camera, designed to snap a picture every two seconds, has been mounted on the forward bulkhead of the hydrogen tank to observe what happens to the hydrogen—whether it curls up in a ball, sticks to the side of the tank or becomes a gas. More than 500 channels of information will be radioed during flight.

The findings will set the pattern for future Centaur research firings, at least seven of which are planned before useful payloads are carried. Liquid hydrogen also will be used on upper stages of Saturn and later Nova space rockets.

Rice Crop Saved From Red Raiders

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Vietnamese troops and U.S. Army helicopters have successfully held off Communist raiders while farmers harvested their rice crop in a remote section of central Viet Nam.

The commander of the U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, Gen. Paul D. Harkins, said only that because of the security operation, farmers were able to bring in the crop without interference from the Reds who try to replenish their food supply with raids on the fertile valleys of Quang Ngai Province 350 miles northeast of Saigon.

No One Wants Position As Mayor of Village

ASHLAND, Mo. (AP)—"It's no pay and all you get is a hard name."

That's why Ashland (population 465) didn't have a candidate for mayor in today's city election, according to one resident.

"I'm tired of listening to belly aches of other people," said Mayor Lahmon Wren, adding that he "wouldn't run again if they paid me."

EASTER EGGS—Four of the most costly Easter eggs ever created are admired by Anne Benham at an exhibition in London. They were gifts exchanged among members of the old Russian royal family. The serpent egg (left) features a clock in which a diamond-set serpent indicates the time. It is decorated with gold, marble, and royal blue enamel. The coronation egg (second) has a replica of the imperial coach used at the czar's coronation in 1896 inside. The lilies of the valley egg (third) is in gold, pearls and rose diamonds. Biggest is the cuckoo egg (fourth), a yellow, green and red gold-on-enamel creation. A spring inside the clock releases a cuckoo which rises, beats its wings and sounds off. Total value of these Easter eggs is about $350,000.

General Fireproofing Co. of Youngstown and Globe-Wernicke Co. of Norwood entered the pleas to one indictment each on the charges of conspiracy to fix prices and eliminate competition in the $14-million-a-year industry.

Federal Judge John O. Henderson Monday accepted the no contest pleas in place of innocent pleas entered earlier.

486 Cleveland Cops Reported Moonlighting

CLEVELAND (AP)—Some 486 policemen—a fourth of the Cleveland police force—are moonlighters, or persons holding two jobs at the same time, according to department records.

High department officials from on this practice, but say it must be overlooked because salaries are considered low.

Records show the group includes some of the top brass in the department—three deputy inspectors, whose yearly salaries run from $9,432 to $9,930, and an inspector making from $10,914 to $11,442.

Salaries of the others range from $5,064 for patrolmen to $9,108 for captains.

Asked why he thought a second job was necessary, Deputy Inspector Stephen Szereto, also a welder, replied:

"My pay sounds high, but that's an inflated dollar. I've got three children, including a boy couldn't afford to send to college."

Safety Director John McCormick said of the moonlighter: "I don't like to have any man hold two jobs for a livelihood, but police are not overpaid."

He said policemen are not permitted to be bartenders, must be permitted for an outside job and can't spend more than 20 hours a week on outside work.

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP)—A Dutch naval spokesman today described as "old news" the announcement Monday by Indonesian Defense Minister Harris Nasution that Indonesian guerrillas have landed at three places along the west New Guinea coast.

Stalinalee Now Marx Allee But Spirit of Stalin Rules

By OMER ANDERSON
Central Press Association
Correspondent

EAST BERLIN — Stalinalee East Berlin's showcase street, has been rechristened "Marx Allee," but Stalin's spirit still rules East Germany.

If Nikita Khrushchev were to exercise entirely Stalinism from East Germany, he would risk losing his unruly German satellite. Only Stalinism, as interpreted and applied by goateed Walter Ulbricht, holds East Germany under the Red yoke.

Most experts will advise anyone seeking a sharp focus on Russia's East German dilemma to visit Stalinalee — pardon, Marx Allee. As the showcase of Communist propaganda in East Germany, it is more revealing than any other single tourist target.

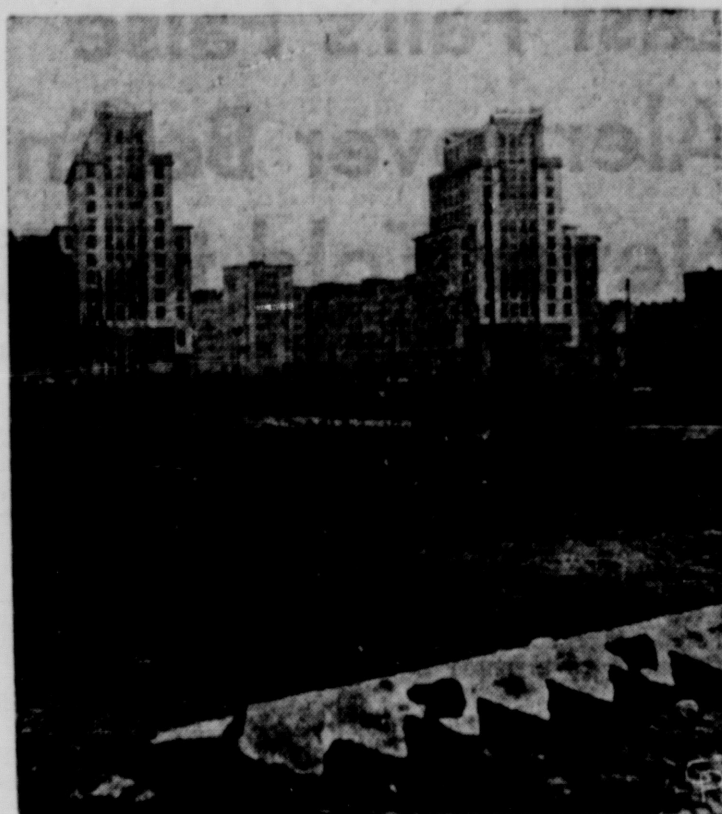

This boulevard, studded with skyscrapers in "Moscow modern," is intended to mirror Moscow's dreams for its German satellite; a "street of the future," so to speak.

It is significant that however high may boil the tension in Berlin the Communists are always glad to have Westerners visit Marx Allee. Even on Aug. 13 and the tense days that followed, while the Communists erected the Berlin wall, Western tourists were still welcomed to East Berlin's showcase street.

The guide says proudly, "Communism is building a new world, and for the Germans it begins in East Berlin with Marx Allee. It will keep growing and growing, and one day it will engulf all West Berlin, and then all Berlin will be Communist."

Ironically, it was on then Stalinalee that the East German revolt of June 17, 1953, began. Stalinalee construction workers revolted at pay reductions, walked off Stalinalee construction sites, and began demonstrations against Ulbricht's regime.

The Red "Miracle Mile," as the

In background is Stalinalee, now renamed Marx Allee, East Berlin's "showcase." However, the rubble and desolation in the foreground testify how East Germany's economy has now stagnated.

guide boasts, was supposed to "grow and grow until one day, it had engulfed all West Berlin." But in fact construction has been completed along the "Miracle Mile," and no more is contemplated.

Why, is spelled out by the war-bombarded areas "engulfing" Stalinalee, still rubble-littered. East Germany is at the end of its resources, human and material. Symbolic are the concrete blocks used to erect the Berlin "wall of infamy." Originally, they were intended for housing construction. Now the housing has had to be deferred because the material went into the wall.

East Germany's economic stagnation dates back to 1953. Since the 1953 revolt, East Germany's economy has stagnated, product of the Stalinist stalemate.

Walter Ulbricht's regime, employing Stalinist repression, is too firmly fortified to be dislodged, much less overthrown. And Nikita Khrushchev is realist enough to know that Ulbricht's removal and efforts to liberalize his regime might blow the lid off.

At the same time, as those desolate expanses behind Stalinalee testify, Ulbricht is unable to compel his listless subjects to work and produce at the West German free enterprise levels.

And, most revealing, of late there has been intense construction activity on Marx Allee. But the construction is not of new buildings; it is the repair of the standing structures, their facades cracked and floors buckled through faulty materials.

Loan Firm Loses Suit
On 'False' Affidavit
CINCINNATI (AP)—Charles M. Delk of Cincinnati has won a $9,000 jury verdict in a suit against Colonial Finance Corp. The Common Pleas Court ruled for Delk Monday.

He contended the company falsely made an affidavit Dec. 14, 1959, saying Delk had been given written notice before action was taken to attach his salary. Delk said he received no notice and, because of the attachment, lost his job.

General Fireproofing Co. of Youngstown and Globe-Wernicke Co. of Norwood entered the pleas to one indictment each on the charges of conspiracy to fix prices and eliminate competition in the $14-million-a-year industry.

Federal Judge John O. Henderson Monday accepted the no contest pleas in place of innocent pleas entered earlier.

The indictments charge the companies agreed to divide the country into sales zones, to set prices for each zone and to limit the colors of furniture produced by each manufacturer. The maximum penalty on the charges in each indictment is a $50,000 fine.

The other companies are Sperry Rand Corp., New York; Shaw-Walker Co., Muskegon, Mich.; Art Metal Co., Jamestown, N.Y.; Yaman & Erge Manufacturing Co., Rochester, N.Y.; Steelcase Inc., Grand Rapids, Mich., and All-Steel Equipment, Aurora, Ill.

Stock Market Gives Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market gave ground grudgingly in moderate trading this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .30 at 256.40 with industrials off .90, rails unchanged and utilities off .20.

Losses of most key stocks were fractional. A few went to a point or so.

Some mixed steels, motors, oils and mail order-retails moved narrowly to the upside after early losses.

Ford was up a fraction and American Motors was firm while Chrysler and General Motors eased.

Bethlehem and U.S. Steel were steady. Republic Steel was off fractionally. Jones & Laughlin eased.

While Du Pont sank more than a point and Air Reduction continued soft with a 1-point loss, Union Carbide and Eastman Kodak gained nearly a point each.

486 Cleveland Cops Reported Moonlighting

CLEVELAND (AP)—Some 486 policemen—a fourth of the Cleveland police force—are moonlighters, or persons holding two jobs at the same time, according to department records.

High department officials frown on this practice, but say it must be overlooked because salaries are considered low.

Records show the group includes some of the top brass in the department—three deputy inspectors, whose yearly salaries run from $9,432 to $9,930, and an inspector making from $10,914 to $11,442.

Salaries of the others range from $5,064 for patrolmen to $9,198 for captains.

Asked why he thought a second job was necessary, Deputy Inspector Stephen Szereto, also a welder, replied:

"My pay sounds high, but that's an inflated dollar. I've got three children, including a boy I couldn't afford to send to college."

Safety Director John McCormick said of the moonlighter: "I don't like to have any man hold two jobs for a livelihood, but police are not overpaid."

He said policemen are not permitted to be bartenders, must request permission for an outside job and can't spend more than 20 hours a week on outside work.

50 U.S. Housewives Plead for Disarmament

GENEVA (AP)—Fifty American housewives of the women's strike for peace movement came to Geneva by plane today to try to coax world diplomats to reach speedy agreement on disarmament.

The group intends to buttonhole members of every delegation represented in the 17-nation disarmament conference now in session.

"We feel," said a spokesman for the party "that the delegations need pressure from women to make progress."

Indonesian Landing Labeled 'Old News'

HOLLANDIA, New Guinea (AP)—A Dutch naval spokesman today described as "old news" the announcement Monday by Indonesian Defense Minister Haris Nasution that Indonesian guerrillas have landed at three places along the west New Guinea coast.

The spokesman said Nasution probably was referring to landings on March 25 and 26 near Kokonao and a frustrated attempt of motor torpedo boats to land guerrillas.

Stalinalee Now Marx Allee But Spirit of Stalin Rules

By OMER ANDERSON
Central Press Association
Correspondent

EAST BERLIN — Stalinalee East Berlin's showcase street, has been rechristened "Marx Allee," but Stalin's spirit still rules East Germany.

If Nikita Khrushchev were to exercise entirely Stalinism from East Germany, he would risk losing his unruly German satellite. Only Stalinism, as interpreted and applied by goateed Walter Ulbricht, holds East Germany under the Red yoke.

Most experts will advise anyone seeking a sharp focus on Russia's East German dilemma to visit Stalinalee — pardon, Marx Allee. As the showcase of Communist propaganda in East Germany, it is more revealing than any other single tourist target.

This boulevard, studded with skyscrapers in "Moscow modern," is intended to mirror Moscow's dreams for its German satellite; a "street of the future," so to speak.

It is significant that however high may boil the tension in Berlin the Communists are always glad to have Westerners visit Marx Allee. Even on Aug. 13 and the tense days that followed, while the Communists erected the Berlin wall, Western tourists were still welcomed to East Berlin's showcase street.

The guide says proudly, "Communism is building a new world, and for the Germans it begins in East Berlin with Marx Allee. It will keep growing and growing, and one day it will engulf all West Berlin, and then all Berlin will be Communist."

Ironically, it was on then Stalinalee that the East German revolt of June 17, 1953, began. Stalinalee construction workers revolted at pay reductions, walked off Stalinalee construction sites, and began demonstrations against Ulbricht's regime.

In background is Stalinalee, now renamed Marx Allee, East Berlin's "showcase." However, the rubble and desolation in the foreground testify how East Germany's economy has now stagnated.

guide boasts, was supposed to "grow and grow until one day, it had engulfed all West Berlin." But in fact construction has been completed along the "Miracle Mile," and no more is contemplated.

Why, is spelled out by the war-bombed-out areas "engulfing" Stalinalee, still rubble-littered. East Germany is at the end of its resources, human and material.

Symbolic are the concrete blocks used to erect the Berlin "wall of infamy." Originally, they were intended for housing construction. Now the housing has had to be deferred because the material went into the wall.

East Germany's economic stagnation dates back to 1953. Since the 1953 revolt, East Germany's economy has stagnated, product of the Stalinist stalemate.

Hoffa Out Politicking, Raps JFK, Romney, but Likes Rocky

DETROIT (AP) — President James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union was out on the political road today with a blast at George Romney and the Kennedy administration and a good word for Nelson A. Rockefeller.

He accused the administration of interfering in the steel negotiations in what he called a "political maneuver."

The union chief, opening his union's DRIVE movement Sunday night, let go with a salvo on Michigan state and national politics before an audience of more than 2,000 union members.

DRIVE is the Teamsters' newly announced Democratic-Republican-Independent Voter Education program through which Hoffa says he hopes his huge organization can wield political influence. Hoffa says the Teamsters represent more than five million votes.

Hoffa, rapping Romney, the probable Republican candidate for governor of Michigan, said, "So far, all that Romney has accepted across the bargaining table as American Motors president he seems to be trying to escape through legislation."

Hoffa said that right now incumbent Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson is the man for labor.

The Teamsters head, referring to the labor contract agreement in steel, said, "The government used pressure to settle the contract so that there would be no increase in prices. This was a political maneuver and I'll wager certain grades of steel will go up in price in a few months, anyway."

Hoffa said the Teamsters "would never accept a contract such as the one reached by the steel industry negotiators."

The steel contract, yet to be ratified by United Steelworkers members, provides for an estimated 10 cents an hour in fringe benefit improvements but no wage increase.

Hoffa, referring to Rockefeller, said the New York governor is the "most appealing candidate for the worker for the 1964 presidency."

Romney is on a leave of absence as president of American Motors Corp. to make his campaign for governor. He is a candidate for the Republican nomination and is expected to oppose Democrat Swainson in the fall election.

Prima Donna Ignores Pain

Arthritis Fails To Curb Singer

LONDON (AP) — "Retire?" asked prima donna Joan Sutherland, "Me retire? Now?" She paused a moment and added: "No, I'll go on singing till I drop."

Suffering from arthritis—one of the most painful of ailments—the 35-year-old opera star has been reported ready to retire. But Sunday night she achieved one of the most resounding triumphs of her career.

More than 6,000 persons cheered her for 30 thundering minutes after a concert.

Her performance sent London's tough critics into paragraphs of ecstasy.

"The singing offered by Miss Sutherland was the kind that made one privileged to be living in the 1960s. Rarely in her life could she have enjoyed a greater triumph on the concert platform," the Times said.

"On last night's showing, she could sing half the world's top sopranos under the table wearing a gag," the Daily Express said.

The Daily Telegraph said the packed house gave her "ovations of positively Latin intensity."

After encore on encore, the orchestra had to be led away to allow the singer to finally retire.

Speaking of her pain to reporters, she said: "I think it's a flattened disc that's causing the trouble. It's only when I have to sit down for long periods, but anyway tonight I was standing."

"It does give me a twinge when I have to take deep breaths. But don't worry — I'll survive," she added.

House Ag Panel Gets Milk Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Agriculture Subcommittee has sent to the full committee without recommendation the administration's compromise proposal for a voluntary cut in milk production.

It would provide payments up to $2.50 a hundred pounds to milk producers who agree voluntarily to reduce production by a minimum of 7 1/2 per cent to a maximum of 25 per cent or 30,000 a year below their 1961 production.

Chances of passage of even the compromise proposal seemed doubtful. It would take the place of the original recommendation by President Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman for a quota system to curtail production.

Freeman last Friday announced that support price for milk would drop from $3.40 to 75 per cent of parity or $3.11 a hundred for the dairy marketing year which began April 1. He said he had no recourse under the law because of the large dairy surplus.

The bill sent to the full House Agriculture Committee would provide no penalties for nonparticipating or for an increase in production of milk.

Katzenbach Is Promoted

Ex-Law Prof Named To White's Old Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stepping into Byron R. White's shoes as No. 2 man in the Justice Department is Nicholas de Borde Katzenbach, an ex-law professor who boned up on his studies while a prisoner of war.

Katzenbach, assistant attorney general and chief of the department's office of legal counsel, was appointed Monday by President Kennedy to succeed White. White has been named to the Supreme Court. Both nominations must be confirmed by the Senate.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Katzenbach's "initiative, judgment and ability have been invaluable in the last 12 months."

Like White, Katzenbach, 40, was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford and studied law at Yale.

He got his undergraduate degree at Princeton and later taught law at Yale and the University of Chicago. His Justice Department biography laconically breezes over one chapter in his life with the notation: "Also was in the U.S. Air Force from 1942 to 1945."

He left Princeton as a junior to enter the Army Air Corps in World War II, became a bomber navigator and was shot down over the Mediterranean. The Germans clapped him into a prisoner of war camp for two years.

"It was terribly boring," complained Katzenbach.

To make it less so, he turned to his books, and did so well that he completed his final two years at Princeton within a few weeks of his return and was graduated cum laude.

It was White, a school mate at Yale, who talked Katzenbach into joining the Justice Department.

Katzenbach, who was not active in politics, had been studying international law on a fellowship at Geneva.

Katzenbach has served as a member of the American Bar Association Committee on the law of outer space, was special consultant to the secretary of state in connection with the United Nations' ad hoc committee on the law of outer space and is co-author — with Prof. Leon Lipson of Yale — of a study of "Legal Literature of Air Space."

Hard Work Needed To Win Industry

CLEVELAND (AP) — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges says it takes a lot of hard work by everyone to make a community attractive to new industry.

"The way to succeed is doing it yourself," Hodges said Monday. "I don't believe in running to the federal government for help all the time."

He expressed his views about area industrial and economic development before 700 delegates at the 37th annual conference of the American Industrial Development Council.

The former North Carolina governor, who was successful in attracting new industry to his state, stressed the importance of good schools, recreational and cultural facilities and having a good business climate.

"These things are not created overnight or through the work of industrial development specialists alone," he warned. "It takes years of cooperation and hard effort to create a 'good town.' It takes the sincere interest and active participation of the community's top men—in business and government."

"And underlying all this, there must be good planning."

The cabinet member pointed out and should help local communities in their development efforts. Among the services available he mentioned are Area Redevelopment Administration, Small Business Administration, National Bureau of Standards, Census Bureau, Office of Business Economics and Bureau of International Business Operations.

NEW SIZE DODGE DART!

Dodge Dart 44: 2-Door Hardtop

NEW LOW PRICE

Some new automobiles are just too darn big to drive with any feeling of confidence. There's a couple of feet of useless overhang that doesn't seem to do anything except get in your way.

Then you try loading your family and your goods in a compact and you've got another kind of trouble. Too little room and not enough muscle in the engine department.

What's a man to do? Try out the new size Dodge Dart. It's a totally new kind of Dodge. An automobile without excess overhang and bulky nonsense. It's two feet bigger than America's smallest automobile... and two feet shorter than America's longest. Sized right in the middle of the big and little.

Yes sir, you're going to like what's happened to Dodge. Go see the new size Dodge Dart at your dependable Dodge Dealer.

Hoffa Out Politicking, Raps JFK, Romney, but Likes Rocky

DETROIT (AP) — President James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union was out on the political road today with a blast at George Romney and the Kennedy administration and a good word for Nelson A. Rockefeller.

He accused the administration of interfering in the steel negotiations in what he called a "political maneuver."

The union chief, opening his union's DRIVE movement Sunday night, let go with a salvo on Michigan state and national politics before an audience of more than 2,000 union members.

Open House Event Planned By Landmark

Robert Sweigart, manager of the local Landmark Store, 312 W. Mound St., has announced the annual Landmark Open House and sale will run April 5 through 7.

In addition to the more than 60 gifts that will be awarded to people who register at the store, there will be free refreshments and prizes.

Sweigart said the sale prices will continue during the entire month.

The theme of the open house is that the customer is king, and the personnel of the store are his knights. The store will be decorated like an ancient castle and the clerks will wear helmets.

Landmark is sponsoring a television special in connection with the event.

DRIVE is the Teamsters' newly announced Democratic-Republican-Independent Voter Education program through which Hoffa says he hopes his huge organization can wield political influence. Hoffa says the Teamsters represent more than five million votes.

Hoffa, rapping Romney, the probable Republican candidate for governor of Michigan, said, "So far, all that Romney has accepted across the bargaining table as American Motors president he seems to be trying to escape through legislation."

Hoffa said that right now incumbent Democratic Gov. John B. Swainson is the man for labor. The Teamsters head, referring to the labor contract agreement in steel, said, "The government used pressure to settle the contract so that there would be no increase in prices. This was a political maneuver and I'll wager certain grades of steel will go up in price in a few months, anyway."

Hoffa said the Teamsters "would never accept a contract such as the one reached by the steel industry negotiators."

The steel contract, yet to be ratified by United Steelworkers members, provides for an estimated 10 cents an hour in fringe benefit improvements but no wage increase.

Hoffa, referring to Rockefeller, said the New York governor is the "most appealing candidate for the worker for the 1964 presidency."

Romney is on a leave of absence as president of American Motors Corp. to make his campaign for governor. He is a candidate for the Republican nomination and is expected to oppose Democrat Swainson in the fall election.

Prima Donna Ignores Pain

Arthritis Fails To Curb Singer

LONDON (AP) — "Retire?" asked prima donna Joan Sutherland, "Me retire? Now?"

She paused a moment and added: "No, I'll go on singing till I drop."

Suffering from arthritis—one of the most painful of ailments—the 35-year-old opera star has been reported ready to retire. But Sunday night she achieved one of the most resounding triumphs of her career.

More than 6,000 persons cheered her for 30 thundering minutes after a concert.

Her performance sent London's tough critics into paroxysms of ecstasy.

"The singing offered by Miss Sutherland was the kind that made one privileged to be living in the 1960s. Rarely in her life could she have enjoyed a greater triumph on the concert platform," the Times said.

"On last night's showing, she could sing half the world's top sopranos under the table wearing a gag," the Daily Express said.

The Daily Telegraph said the packed house gave her "ovations of positively Latin intensity."

After encore on encore, the orchestra had to be led away to allow the singer to finally retire.

Speaking of her pain to reporters, she said: "I think it's a flattened disc—that's causing the trouble. It's only when I have to sit down for long periods, but anyway tonight I was standing."

"It does give me a twinge when I have to take deep breaths. But don't worry—I'll survive," she added.

Katzenbach Is Promoted

Ex-Law Prof Named To White's Old Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Stepping into Byron R. White's shoes as No. 2 man in the Justice Department is Nicholas de Borde Katzenbach, an ex-law professor who boned up on his studies while a prisoner of war.

Katzenbach, assistant attorney general and chief of the department's office of legal counsel, was appointed Monday by President Kennedy to succeed White. White has been named to the Supreme Court. Both nominations must be confirmed by the Senate.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said Katzenbach's "initiative, judgment and ability have been invaluable in the last 12 months."

Like White, Katzenbach, 40, was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford and studied law at Yale.

He got his undergraduate degree at Princeton and later taught law at Yale and the University of Chicago. His Justice Department biography laconically breezes over one chapter in his life with the notation: "Also was in the U.S. Air Force from 1942 to 1945."

He left Princeton as a junior to enter the Army Air Corps in World War II, became a bomber navigator and was shot down over the Mediterranean. The Germans clapped him into a prisoner of war camp for two years.

"It was terribly boring," complained Katzenbach.

To make it less so, he turned to his books, and did so well that he completed his final two years at Princeton within a few weeks of his return and was graduated cum laude.

It was White, a school mate at Yale, who talked Katzenbach into joining the Justice Department. Katzenbach, who was not active in politics, had been studying international law on a fellowship at Geneva.

Katzenbach has served as a member of the American Bar Association Committee on the law of outer space, was special consultant to the secretary of state in connection with the United Nations' ad hoc committee on the law of outer space and is co-author — with Prof. Leon Lipson of Yale — of a study of "Legal Literature of Air Space."

Hard Work Needed To Win Industry

CLEVELAND (AP) — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges says it takes a lot of hard work by everyone to make a community attractive to new industry.

"The way to succeed is doing it yourself," Hodges said Monday. "I don't believe in running to the federal government for help all the time."

He expressed his views about area industrial and economic development before 700 delegates at the 37th annual conference of the American Industrial Development Council.

The former North Carolina governor, who was successful in attracting new industry to his state, stressed the importance of good schools, recreational and cultural facilities and having a good business climate.

"These things are not created overnight or through the work of industrial development specialists alone," he warned. "It takes years of cooperation and hard effort to create a 'good town.' It takes the sincere interest and active participation of the community's top men—in business and government."

"And underlying all this, there must be good planning."

The cabinet member pointed out and should help local communities in their development efforts. Among the services available he mentioned are Area Redevelopment Administration, Small Business Administration, National Bureau of Standards, Census Bureau, Office of Business Economics and Bureau of International Business Operations.

Not a 400 Per Cent Change

"Nothing fails like failure." If there isn't such a saying, there should be. And the first place it applies is at the offices of the huge Curtis Publishing Co. in Philadelphia.

After a remarkably short time, the "new" editor of the Saturday Evening Post has been replaced by a newer one. Likewise, other Curtis magazines—Ladies Home Journal and American Home—have been shaken up.

In addition, all the magazines will drop some issues—the Post becoming a 45-issue publication and the Journal and Home becoming 10 issue periodicals. Further, the drastic changes being made in the Saturday Evening Post are to be halted and even reversed.

Just how cutting the amount of product

the buyer gets will help the magazines is difficult to understand. But there is no denying the fact that even in three months the reign of Robert Fuoss as editor of the venerable Post has been near-disastrous.

Fuoss and aides took the Post apart, because it was losing money, and forgot to put it back together again. And it still lost money. Many persons who had tolerated the magazine although it had lost much of its onetime character were confused by it in the last three months. And those who liked it previously couldn't even tolerate it.

Probably the truth is in what one Post executive said: "The feeling is that we needed a change, but not a 400 per cent change."

A Fence for U.S.

Washington bureaucrats have often been charged with wanting "The world with a fence around it." Now they have a pilot project for that plan.

The government is studying a proposal to build sand-dune barriers along U. S. coastlines to reduce storm damage. The plan would include the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts.

The government would acquire shore land and easements in order to build permanent barriers up to 400 feet wide. The plan was conceived after the East Coast suffered heavy damage in early March storms this year.

It is known that sand dunes, anchored by grasses and scrub growth, effectively reduce damage from storms and tides. The tricky part of the proposal: The National Park Service has made no estimate of the cost.

Clearly, some conservation plan to reduce or prevent storm damage would be beneficial. Man has brought the problem on himself by developing shore land without regard for protective features, and could well repair some of the damage.

But if the Interior Department plans to fence all the American coasts with sand dunes, some one should take a good look at the map — and the budget. The cost of "fencing" thousands of miles of coastline could make the farm budget look like peanuts.

Marc Antony Fell for Her

Cleopatra was no outstanding beauty, according to a self-proclaimed expert on feminine pulchritude who aired his views in Paris. But Marc Antony fell hard for Cleo.

Well, looks aren't everything. A girl who isn't physically repulsive, knows her own mind, and has the knack of seeming friendly and understanding doesn't need to fear competition from inarticulate beauties. Standards vary. In certain Moslem countries women with most avoidpois are considered the most beautiful. One need only visit an art gallery to realize that tastes vary with time and geography.

Cleopatra had a long, "Roman" nose which Antony and Caesar may have thought beautiful. Big soulful eyes and a tiny rosebud mouth, two of her other attributes, have often been considered facets of beauty. She used plenty of makeup, too, and didn't dress too warmly. In her day, she may have been considered a knockout.

Actors Busy Hopscotching

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"Living to-day is like trying to commit the perfect crime," remarked William Holden. "Everything has to be considered."

The globe has become a series of commuter stops for Holden, and airplane schedules his favorite reading matter.

One of the world's busiest as well as highest-paid actors, Bill in the last decade has hopped the continents to make his films. A couple of years ago he had a backlog of a dozen movie commitments. Now he's down to only five.

This hazy schedule keeps Holden in a state of almost chronic anxiety, a situation he both likes and deplores.

"I'm too often worried about a lot of little things, ridiculous things like whether I'm going to be two minutes late to an appointment," he said. "But, on the other hand, I think that if you don't consider the small things as important, you aren't likely to get the big things done."

"The trouble with most people is that they think big, but—" he left the sentence unfinished.

Holden, whose next film will be made in Paris, was here for a breather after completing his last two pictures, one in Germany, Denmark and Sweden; and one filmed in Africa.

A warm spring sun shone invitingly outside, but Bill preferred to relax in his hotel room in a pair of slippers and a blue silk robe from Hong Kong.

"I just feel like resting," he said, but jumped up every few minutes to take a long-distance business call from Hollywood or Europe.

Bill has two retreats from the worldwide clamor for his talents — his home in Switzerland and the Mt. Kenya Safari Club in Africa, which he and two partners bought after a hunting trip in 1959.

Critics have pointed out that living in Switzerland has given the actor certain tax advantages unavailable to most Americans.

"I can commute there from any studio in Europe and spend weekends with my family," he said, "and our children get certain educational advantages. They have become trilingual during our three years there."

The millionaire actor likes the pace of his life. He lives by the creed of the old Chinese philosopher, Lao-tzu: "To do is to be." "When I am gone," said Holden, "I don't want them to say — 'Well, after all, he had more than enough.' " And chances are they will.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The real cost of the steel labor peace as measured in squeeze on profits and pressure on prices is up to-day for sharp debate.

The Kennedy administration hails the pact—rated as a 10-cent hourly boost in fringe benefits with no immediate wage hike—as noninflationary. The administration holds that the steel companies can absorb that increase in labor costs, smallest in eight years, without raising prices. Gains in productivity and tax savings on depreciation of recently installed equipment are expected to provide the wherewithal.

Labor also holds that the fringe benefit payments are well covered by past price hikes and by increased productivity — that is, the ability each year to turn out the same steel tonnage with fewer man hours of labor.

Steel management contends this isn't so. It holds that prices should have gone up last fall, and it says the new costs will exceed any expected gain in productivity. The companies contend that profits already are squeezed and will be lowered further unless prices rise.

But most steel company officials know they face three obstacles to raising prices now—domestic competition is keen and excess production capacity means that some other company could produce more and undersell them, should they hike their price lists; foreign steel at lower prices would be available to resentful consumers, and steel's growing list of competitors among other metals, plastics and other materials promises still more new products or increasing price attractiveness.

Just how much of an increase in costs is involved in the new pact being hammered out for July 1 depends on who is doing the figuring.

Steel executives say that labor costs will go up 2.5 per cent under the new pact. This is close to the percentage figure that the administration and the labor unions use in figuring the annual rise in output per man hour.

But steel management contends this. It holds that the average annual increase in productivity is closer to 1.7 per cent.

The gap between this output gain and the increase in labor costs, in the argument of the steel companies, will have to be filled either by raising steel prices again or by taking a further drop in profit margins.

The dispute illustrates the larger one over just how productivity gains are to be measured. Labor stresses that fewer men are needed now to put out as much goods as in the past because of great strides in mechanization and in production methods. It measures productivity in jobs and hours worked.

Management adds other factors to this. It stresses the cost of the new plants and new machines and the great cost of the automatic devices. It holds that part of the productivity gains should go toward paying such costs and also toward increasing profits out of which still newer devices can be bought, and which must be bought if individual companies are to stay competitive.

Try and Stop Me

SOME YEARS AGO, Mr. Ben Schulberg was Mr. Big at the Paramount Film Studios, ruling the roost wisely—and autocratically. Then came one of those cyclones that frequently upset things in Hollywood, and in Mr. Schulberg's old chair suddenly sat a man named Katz.

Some days after the upheaval, a young actress met Schulberg at the Brown Derby Restaurant, and caroled, "It's so wonderful seeing you again, Mr. Schulberg."

"I'm no longer Mr. Schulberg," he told her sorrowfully. "I used to be Mr. Schulberg."

The inmates at a well-run loony bin chipped in and bought the new doctor a great big red balloon. "It's to show how much better we like you than the doctor who preceded you," explained the spokesman of the inmates. "Somehow you seem more like one of us."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.
Should you call a specialist or general practitioner?

Which specialist?

Small town general practitioners (family doctors) usually double as specialists. But big city family doctors often call in specialists when life is threatened by serious ailments like meningitis or intestinal obstruction.

No one blames a qualified specialist when the patient takes a turn for the worse. But the general practitioner's neck is way out where he prescribes the same treatment! The family doctor who delivers babies refers Cesarean operations and other complications to obstetricians. He'll treat minor female troubles and sew up cuts, but wave major surgery for the proper specialist.

Increasing deafness may drive you to the ear specialist. Your family doctor can cure deafness when it's caused by a wax-filled canal. Why pay more?

You don't need an ophthalmologist to cure ordinary pin eye. General practitioners can treat most tonsillitis and ear infections. But in large cities only ear, nose and throat specialists snip out tonsils and adenoids.

As an old friend, the family doctor makes an ideal psychiatrist for minor mental ills. He may consult an internal medicine specialist about serious heart or lung trouble and refer tiny tots to pediatricians who are trained to help Junior grow into a sound mind and healthy body.

Specialists are crumbling into tiny pieces. Today a doctor may treat only allergies, gland troubles heart disease or stomach ailments — in either adults or children, but not both!

Don't rush to the gynecologist because of menstrual irregularity. You may need a doctor who can pinpoint and treat thyroid trouble. You want an internal medicine specialist, not an orthopedic surgeon, when broken bones herald serious internal disease.

How can you choose the right doctor?

You don't need a crystal ball — just a telephone to call your family doctor and see what he suggests!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

When Will the Solution Come?

By George Sokolsky

The true object of the differences over Berlin is to liquidate World War II which is still continuing but in an unusual way.

The Russian view is that the war would best be liquidated by recognizing the existence of two Germanys, a Communist East Germany and a Western - oriented West Germany. Berlin would then be the capital of East Germany and part of it.

This solution is a violation of the Yalta and Potsdam Agreements for ending World War II. Khrushchev, like Stalin before him, does not like those agreements because they represent to him unrealistic arrangements made temporarily but with no permanent possibilities. The British view on the subject is formally stated as follows:

"Mr. Khrushchev says over and over again that what is needed is to liquidate the vestiges of the Second World War. This sounds simple and attractive. In fact, however, Mr. Khrushchev's proposals would not liquidate the division of Germany, which is also the main cause of instability in Europe. The Western Powers also want the remnants of the last war removed. But they want to do it in a lasting, safe and satisfactory way, by reunifying Germany, with Berlin as its capital."

Soviet Russia does not regard the unilateral violation of an agreement as improper because under the Marxist system, no morals matter but the rule of necessity. Whereas 17 years ago, it was all right to agree to what the Western Powers required of Soviet Russia because it was necessary for Russia to receive Western aid, Russia no longer sees such necessity at the present time.

Furthermore, should Germany become united questions might be raised about the German provinces of Poland and Czechoslovakia. Khrushchev expects to add to Communist territory not to lose any. The Western Powers, at great sacrifice, have enlarged the sphere of self-determination throughout the world; Soviet Russia refuses to grant self-determination to Germany. This can lead to war, because throughout European history, since the beginning of the fall of the Roman Empire, the Germanic peoples sought for and found a way to achieve freedom.

The weakness of the British position, however, is that what a Marxist must interpret as the law of necessity, the British regard as the rule of reason. They favor endless conferences in the hope that Soviet Russia will see the light.

This Chamberlain policy is not due to cowardice; it is rather an inevitable product of British geography. The mistake that Napoleon made was that he fought Russia instead of Great Britain on British soil; the mistake that Hitler made in 1941 was that he fought Russia instead of invading Great Britain before the United States got ready. The next war must be between Soviet Russia and the United States, and Western Europe, including Great Britain, will be squeezed between those two giants. The British wisely but somewhat ineptly are doing what they can to prevent that from happening.

For instance this statement is typical of British thinking:

"It is true that the East German Communist regime is both weak and oppressive and that its economic planning has failed. It feels that the existence of a democratically governed and economically thriving West Berlin shows up its own weakness and oppressiveness. This situation, however, is no excuse for inflicting the threat of war upon the world."

Of course, from a Communist standpoint, the contrast between East and West Germany is offensive to the Soviet Universal State. The contrast is too sharp. It shows to the world what the same people, in the same geographical area, can do under a mixed capitalist-socialist system. It exposes the fallacies of Marxism. The fact that the intellectual classes of East Germany have escaped from that country to West Germany proves conclusively that intellectuals with any means of egress must escape from intellectual and spiritual enslavement.

Today, we reject Soviet Russia's authority to plunder and we say that we shall defend our rights in Berlin, but as we have not defended our rights anywhere else, the Russians are prepared to gamble that we shall back away.

This, I believe to be the Berlin situation. It can be tested in one of three ways:

1. Blow up the wall, separating the East and West;
2. Negotiate for the removal of the wall;
3. Do nothing and wait for great events to solve themselves.

CHANCE AND A TIP OF THE HAT TO WAYNE BURT, EMMITSBURG, MD.

Not a 400 Per Cent Change

"Nothing fails like failure." If there isn't such a saying, there should be. And the first place it applies is at the offices of the huge Curtis Publishing Co. in Philadelphia.

After a remarkably short time, the "new" editor of the Saturday Evening Post has been replaced by a newer one. Likewise, other Curtis magazines—Ladies Home Journal and American Home—have been shaken up.

In addition, all the magazines will drop some issues—the Post becoming a 45-issue publication and the Journal and Home becoming 10 issue periodicals. Further, the drastic changes being made in the Saturday Evening Post are to be halted and even reversed.

Just how cutting the amount of product

the buyer gets will help the magazines is difficult to understand. But there is no denying the fact that even in three months the reign of Robert Fuoss as editor of the venerable Post has been near-disastrous.

Fuoss and aides took the Post apart, because it was losing money, and forgot to put it back together again. And it still lost money. Many persons who had tolerated the magazine although it had lost much of its onetime character were confused by it in the last three months. And those who liked it previously couldn't even tolerate it.

Probably the truth is in what one Post executive said: "The feeling is that we needed a change, but not a 400 per cent change."

A Fence for U.S.

Washington bureaucrats have often been charged with wanting "The world with a fence around it." Now they have a pilot project for that plan.

The government is studying a proposal to build sand-dune barriers along U. S. coastlines to reduce storm damage. The plan would include the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts.

The government would acquire shore land and easements in order to build permanent barriers up to 400 feet wide. The plan was conceived after the East Coast suffered heavy damage in early March storms this year.

It is known that sand dunes, anchored by grasses and scrub growth, effectively reduce damage from storms and tides. The tricky part of the proposal: The National Park Service has made no estimate of the cost.

Clearly, some conservation plan to reduce or prevent storm damage would be beneficial. Man has brought the problem on himself by developing shore land without regard for protective features, and could well repair some of the damage.

But if the Interior Department plans to fence all the American coasts with sand dunes, some one should take a good look at the map — and the budget. The cost of "fencing" thousands of miles of coastline could make the farm budget look like peanuts.

Marc Antony Fell for Her

Cleopatra was no outstanding beauty, according to a self-proclaimed expert on feminine pulchritude who aired his views in Paris. But Marc Antony fell hard for Cleo.

Well, looks aren't everything. A girl who isn't physically repulsive, knows her own mind, and has the knack of seeming friendly and understanding doesn't need to fear competition from inarticulate beauties. Standards vary. In certain Moslem countries women with most avoird-pois are considered the most beautiful. One need only visit an art gallery to realize that tastes vary with time and geography.

Cleopatra had a long, "Roman" nose which Antony and Caesar may have thought beautiful. Big soulful eyes and a tiny rosebud mouth, two of her other attributes, have often been considered facets of beauty. She used plenty of makeup, too, and didn't dress too warmly. In her day, she may have been considered a knockout.

Actors Busy Hopscotching

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"Living today is like trying to commit the perfect crime," remarked William Holden. "Everything has to be considered."

The globe has become a series of commuter stops for Holden, and airplane schedules his favorite reading matter.

One of the world's busiest as well as highest-paid actors, Bill in the last decade has hoppedscotched the continents to make his films. A couple of years ago he had a backlog of a dozen movie commitments. Now he's down to only five.

This harrising schedule keeps Holden in a state of almost chronic anxiety, a situation he both likes and deplors.

"I'm too often worried about a lot of little things, ridiculous things like whether I'm going to be two minutes late to an appointment," he said. "But, on the other hand, I think that if you don't consider the small things as important, you aren't likely to get the big things done."

"The trouble with most people is that they think big, but—" he left the sentence unfinished. Holden, whose next film will be made in Paris, was here for a breather after completing his last two pictures, one in Germany, Denmark and Sweden; and one filmed in Africa.

A warm spring sun shone invitingly outside, but Bill preferred to relax in his hotel room in a pair of slippers and a blue silk robe from Hong Kong.

"I just feel like resting," he said, but jumped up every few minutes to take a long-distance business call from Hollywood or Europe.

Bill has two retreats from the worldwide clamor for his talents —his home in Switzerland and the Mt. Kenya Safari Club in Africa, which he and two partners bought after a hunting trip in 1959.

Critics have pointed out that living in Switzerland has given the actor certain tax advantages unavailable to most Americans.

"I can commute there from any studio in Europe and spend weekends with my family," he said, "and our children get certain educational advantages. They have become trilingual during our three years there."

The millionaire actor likes the pace of his life. He lives by the creed of the old Chinese philosopher, Lao-tzet: "To do is to be."

"When I am gone," said Holden, "I don't want them to say — 'Well, after all, he had enough.' I want them to say, 'He had more than enough.'"

And chances are they will.

LAFF-A-DAY

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

SOME YEARS AGO, Mr. Ben Schulberg was Mr. Big at the Paramount Film Studios, ruling the roost wisely—and autocratically. Then came one of those cyclones that frequently upset things in Hollywood, and in Mr. Schulberg's old chair suddenly sat a man named Katz.

Some days after the upheaval, a young actress met Schulberg at the Brown Derby Restaurant, and caroled, "It's so wonderful seeing you again, Mr. Schulberg."

"I'm no longer Mr. Schulberg," he told her sorrowfully. "I used to be Mr. Schulberg."

The inmates at a well-run loony bin chipped in and bought the new doctor a great big red balloon. "It's to show how much better we like you than the doctor who preceded you," explained the spokesman of the inmates. "Somehow you seem more like one of us."

"My wife," boasted a well-to-do jeweler, "has only one extravagance. She just loves to spend money."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.
Should you call a specialist or general practitioner?
Which specialist?

Small town general practitioners (family doctors) usually double as specialists. But big city family doctors often call in specialists when life is threatened by serious ailments like meningitis or intestinal obstruction.

No one blames a qualified specialist when the patient takes a turn for the worse. But the general practitioner's neck is way out where he prescribes the same treatment!

The family doctor who delivers babies refers Cesarean operations and other complications to obstetricians. He'll treat minor female troubles and sew up cuts, but wave major surgery for the proper specialist.

Increasing deafness may drive you to the ear specialist. Your family doctor can cure deafness when it's caused by a wax-filled canal. Why pay more?

You don't need an ophthalmologist to cure ordinary pink eye. General practitioners can treat most tonsillitis and ear infections. But in large cities only ear, nose and throat specialists snip out tonsils and adenoids.

As an old friend, the family doctor makes an ideal psychiatrist for minor mental ills. He may consult an internal medicine specialist about serious heart or lung trouble and refer tiny tots to pediatricians who are trained to help Junior grow into a sound mind and healthy body.

Specialists are crumbling into tiny pieces. Today a doctor may treat only allergies, gland troubles heart disease or stomach ailments — in either adults or children, but not both!

Don't rush to the gynecologist because of menstrual irregularity. You may need a doctor who can pinpoint and treat thyroid trouble. You want an internal medicine specialist, not an orthopedic surgeon, when broken bones herald serious internal disease.

How can you choose the right doctor?

You don't need a crystal ball — just a telephone to call your family doctor and see what he suggests!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

X15 Rocket's Flight Delayed by Malfunction

EDARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A mechanical malfunction has again delayed testing of a new automatic control system for the X15 rocket plane. Next attempt to fly the test craft will be Wednesday or later, a spokesman said.

The plane was four minutes from being launched Saturday when the flight was called off for the fourth time in a week. The X15 is dropped from a high-flying B52 bomber for its test runs.

When Will the Solution Come?

By George Sokolsky

The true object of the differences over Berlin is to liquidate World War II which is still continuing but in an unusual way.

The Russian view is that the war would best be liquidated by recognizing the existence of two Germanys, a Communist East Germany and a Western - oriented West Germany. Berlin would then be the capital of East Germany and part of it.

This solution is a violation of the Yalta and Potsdam Agreements for ending World War II. Khrushchev, like Stalin before him, does not like those agreements because they represent to him unrealistic arrangements made temporarily but with no permanent possibilities. The British view on the subject is formally stated as follows:

"Mr. Khrushchev says over and over again that what is needed is to liquidate the vestiges of the Second World War. This sounds simple and attractive. In fact, however, Mr. Khrushchev's proposals would not liquidate the division of Germany, which is also the main cause of instability in Europe. . . . The Western Powers also want the remnants of the last war removed. But they want to do it in a lasting, safe and satisfactory way, by reuniting Germany, with Berlin as its capital."

Soviet Russia does not regard the unilateral violation of an agreement as improper because under the Marxist system, no morals matter but the rule of necessity. Whereas 17 years ago, it was all right to agree to what the Western Powers required of Soviet Russia because it was necessary for Russia to receive Western aid, Russia no longer sees such necessity at the present time.

Furthermore, should Germany become united questions might be raised about the German provinces of Poland and Czechoslovakia. Khrushchev expects to add to Communist territory not to lose any. The Western Powers, at great sacrifice, have enlarged the sphere of self-determination throughout the world; Soviet Russia refuses to grant self-determination to Germany. This can lead to war, because throughout European history, since the beginning of the fall of the Roman Empire, the Germanic peoples sought for and found a way to achieve freedom.

The weakness of the British position, however, is that what a Marxist must interpret as the law of necessity, the British regard as the rule of reason. They favor endless conferences in the hope that Soviet Russia will see the light.

This Chamberlain policy is not due to cowardice; it is rather an inevitable product of British geography. The mistake that Napoleon made was that he fought Russia instead of Great Britain on British soil; the mistake that Hitler made in 1941 was that he fought Russia instead of invading Great Britain before the United States got ready. The next war must be between Soviet Russia and the United States, and Western Europe, including Great Britain, will be squeezed between those two giants. The British wisely but somewhat ineptly are doing what they can to prevent that from happening.

For instance this statement is typical of British thinking:

"It is true that the East German Communist regime is both weak and oppressive and that its economic planning has failed. It feels that the existence of a democratically governed and economically thriving West Berlin shows up its own weakness and oppressiveness. This situation, however, is no excuse for inflicting the threat of war upon the world. . . ."

Of course, from a Communist standpoint, the contrast between East and West Germany is offensive to the Soviet Universal State. The contrast is too sharp. It shows to the world what the same people, in the same geographical area, can do under a mixed capitalist-socialist system. It exposes the fallacies of Marxism. The fact that the intellectual classes of East Germany have escaped from that country to West Germany proves conclusively that intellectuals with any means of egress must escape from intellectual and spiritual enslavement.

Today, we reject Soviet Russia's authority to plunder and we say that we shall defend our rights in Berlin, but as we have not defended our rights anywhere else, the Russians are prepared to gamble that we shall back away.

This, I believe to be the Berlin situation. It can be tested in one of three ways:

1. Blow up the wall, separating the East and West;
2. Negotiate for the removal of the wall;
3. Do nothing and wait for great events to solve themselves.

Use of Fats Holds Steady Despite Diets

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reports that, while Americans have become increasingly more "diet and cholesterol conscious," their total consumption of fats remains about the same as 40 years ago—an annual average of around 45 pounds.

"The only indication so far of fat consciousness," the department said in a study, "has been some tendency to shift from the solid fats to the liquids and from animal fats to vegetable fats."

As a consequence, there is a struggle between the various types of fats for the favor of the health conscious consumer. The animal fats are principally lard and butter and the vegetable fats mainly soybean, cottonseed, peanut, corn and safflower oils.

The department said the effect of consumption of fats on health is still unsettled and must await the outcome of further research.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agriculture Department chemists are looking for ways to enhance and modify the taste of lamb to increase its acceptance by many consumers.

Reporting this, the department said research indicates lamb meat gets its characteristic flavor from its fats, probably from minor constituents called carbonyls.

Chemists say that after final determination of the taste-determining factors, it may be possible to make changes in feeding and fattening practices to make lamb meat tasteful to more consumers.

WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. cotton is getting a smaller share of the free world export market this year than last.

The Agriculture Department reports the U. S. share has declined this marketing year in 11 countries and that takings of U. S. cotton were smaller than last in 10 countries. Countries in which the U. S. share has declined included the United Kingdom, Japan, France, Belgium, Denmark, The Netherlands and West Germany. Notable exceptions were Canada, India and Italy.

"If, as expected, U. S. exports in 1961-62 fall to around 5 million bales from 6.6 million in 1960-61, the U. S. share of the foreign free world cotton market may show some further decline during the remaining months of the current season," the department said.

Ex-Trucking Aide Is Held In Shooting

CLEVELAND (AP)—A lengthy investigation by homicide detectives has resulted in the arrest of a 22-year-old former trucking company employee. Police say he shot one man and attempted to extort money from five others under threat of shooting them also.

The man being held is John W. Marcoguissepe of Parma, a former employee of Mohawk Motor Inc. Police say he held a grudge against six employees of that firm. Charges were to be filed today.

One of the six is John J. Tracy, 23, who was wounded by a shotgun blast March 16 as he entered his home.

Another is Robert C. Streeter, 28, who last Monday received a letter demanding $2,000 from him. Tracy and four other trucking company workers. With the letter was a piece of cardboard to which six .22-caliber bullets had been glued.

Above each bullet, police said, was the initial of the last name of each employee mentioned in the letter, which threatened collection "one way or the other."

Tracy, who was in charge of unloading trucks at the Mohawk dock, said he had a squabble with Marcoguissepe, then a dockhand, about shirking jobs. As a result, Marcoguissepe was asked to quit, which he did.

HOW THE WEATHER LOOKS COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Cloudiness was variable over Ohio Monday night, and temperatures dropped into the low and middle 20s. A few snow flurries fell early today near Youngstown but skies were clear at Dayton, Findlay and Toledo.

A large mass of dry, cool air will control Ohio's weather through Wednesday, bringing sun shine during the days and clear, cold nights. A few light snow flurries may continue in the northeast near Lake Erie.

Temperature this afternoon generally will reach the middle and upper 40s, while readings Wednesday afternoon will reach the 50s.

Engineers Ask Record Flood Control Sum

CINCINNATI (AP)—The U. S. Army Engineers have asked for a record $181,421,900 in projects to aid navigation and flood control in the Ohio Valley.

Brig. Gen. Jackson Graham, who heads the Ohio River division, said today the figure is about $30 million more than operating projects for the current fiscal year.

He said the proposed spending came in testimony he gave last week before the Senate Public Works Subcommittee in Washington D. C.

The chief proposed projects were for $40,027,000 for more work on six new Ohio River locks and dams.

These major projects included the new high-level Markland, Ind., dam and locks; Cannelton locks and dam below Louisville; McAlpine locks and dam at Louisville; the Medahl locks and dam above Cincinnati; Belleville locks and dam below Parkersburg, W. Va.; and Pike Island locks and dam above Wheeling, W. Va.

GOP Chief OKs Ohio Solon's Health Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the Republican National Committee asked all Republican members of the House today to join him in sponsoring a bill for hospital and medical care of the aged.

The bill, using private health insurance plans, has been introduced as a possible substitute for the measure backed by President Kennedy to provide hospital and similar services financed under the Social Security system.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York wrote a letter to each Republican member of the House saying he has become convinced that some legislation in addition to the existing limited plan for needy aged is needed.

He recommended the bill introduced by Rep. Frank Bow, R-Ohio.

"I ask you to give your most careful consideration and if you approve its provisions to join me in cosponsoring it," he wrote.

The Bow bill would provide a credit against income taxes of $125 for premiums paid for private insurance affording the specified hospital, surgical and medical benefits. Persons with incomes insufficient to create a $125 tax liability would receive a federal subsidy for the difference, up to the full $125.

Eligibles would have to be 65 years or older.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy could make three or more appointments to the Supreme Court—even before his first term ends in 1965—if vacancy averages continue.

Four of the justices—Earl Warren, Hugo L. Black, Felix Frankfurter, William O. Douglas—because of age or length of service—have exceeded the average age or length of service of Supreme Court justices.

But, because of the composition of the court, if all four of those men were to retire before 1965, Kennedy at most could add to the liberal view on the court by no more than one appointment.

Warren, Black and Douglas vote consistently on the liberal side. Frankfurter, compared with them, has been pretty much a conservative since he went on the court in 1939.

The opportunity which came to Kennedy last week to name Byron R. White to the court to succeed Justice Charles E. Whittaker was unusual, as the averages go. Whittaker had served only five years. The average time on the court for all 83 justices from the beginning has been 16 years.

The nine-man court which Whittaker just left has been pretty much split between liberals and conservatives, with some little shifting around on individual cases they decided.

While not much is publicly known about White, even though he had been deputy attorney general a year, it's unlikely he will run with the conservatives for an obvious reason.

Kennedy's programs, while neither as suddenly new or startling as those of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in his early New Deal days, are more or less liberal. It might be nice to think a president—at least one as active as Kennedy—is simply interested in picking the man most scholarly in the law without concern for his views.

That doesn't fit. At this time in American history it's a certainty Kennedy wouldn't pick for the court a Southern judge or lawyer who is also a segregationist.

If it is granted that he wouldn't do that, then it must be conceded a justice's viewpoint means something to the President. Then the only question left is how much a justice's viewpoint means to him.

The President hasn't discussed that publicly. But he has spoken highly of White's qualifications and said he was recommended by the American Bar Association

Higgins To Attend Folklore Meeting

Wallace Higgins, a teacher at Circleville High School, is scheduled to participate Saturday in the Ohio Folklore Society meeting in Columbus.

Higgins is secretary-treasurer of the organization. Kelsie B. Harder of Youngstown University is president and Claude Simpson of Ohio State University, vice president.

The Society will meet in Ohio State University's Denny Hall, room 346. Morning and afternoon sessions are planned.

The ancient Chinese attributed medicinal powers to bananas.

By James Marlow

Warren, Black, Douglas and Justice William Brennan Jr. make up what has been called the liberal bloc on the court. On the conservative side were Frankfurter, and Justices Tom C. Clark, John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart and, generally, Whittaker.

Thus, if White's thinking is along liberal lines, he has tipped the balance toward the liberal side.

This would be undone if Warren, Black or Douglas quit—or if all three were to step down before 1965—and Kennedy replaced them with one or more conservatives.

If Frankfurter quit and Kennedy replaced him with a liberal—and there was no other chance—the balance of the court would be liberal.

But if Frankfurter quit and was replaced by a conservative—while the rest of the present court remained unchanged—there would still be some nip and tuck decisions.

There is, however, no sign that Warren, Black, Douglas or Frankfurter has it in mind to get out. The average age at which all 83 justices in American history left the bench through retirement or death has been 67½ years.

Warren is 71, Black, 76, Frankfurter, 78.

Black has already served 24 years, Frankfurter, 23 and Douglas 23—all well above the average of 16 years for all of the justices of the past.

Neither Warren, Black nor Frankfurter—all in the 70s—would be setting any record if they stayed another 10 years or so.

Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was the oldest justice who ever served. He stayed till he was 91.

Brig. Gen. Jackson Graham, who heads the Ohio River division, said today the figure is about $30 million more than operating projects for the current fiscal year.

He said the proposed spending came in testimony he gave last week before the Senate Public Works Subcommittee in Washington D. C.

The chief proposed projects were for $40,027,000 for more work on six new Ohio River locks and dams.

These major projects included the new high-level Markland, Ind., dam and locks; Cannelton locks and dam below Louisville; McAlpine locks and dam at Louisville; the Medahl locks and dam above Cincinnati; Belleville locks and dam below Parkersburg, W. Va.; and Pike Island locks and dam above Wheeling, W. Va.

GOP Chief OKs Ohio Solon's Health Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Republican National Committee asked all Republican members of the House today to join him in sponsoring a bill for hospital and medical care of the aged.

The bill, using private health insurance plans, has been introduced as a possible substitute for the measure backed by President Kennedy to provide hospital and similar services financed under the Social Security system.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York wrote a letter to each Republican member of the House saying he has become convinced that some legislation in addition to the existing limited plan for needy aged is needed.

He recommended the bill introduced by Rep. Frank Bow, R-Ohio.

"I ask you to give it your most careful consideration and if you approve its provisions to join me in cosponsoring it," he wrote.

The Bow bill would provide a credit against income taxes of $125 for premiums paid for private insurance affording the specified hospital, surgical and medical benefits. Persons with incomes insufficient to create a $125 tax liability would receive a federal subsidy for the difference, up to the full $125.

Eligibles would have to be 65 years or older.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy could make three or more appointments to the Supreme Court—even before his first term ends in 1965—if vacancy averages continue.

Four of the justices—Earl Warren, Hugo L. Black, Felix Frankfurter, William O. Douglas—because of age or length of service—have exceeded the average age or length of service of Supreme Court justices.

But, because of the composition of the court, if all four of those men were to retire before 1965, Kennedy at most could add to the liberal view on the court by no more than one appointment.

Warren, Black and Douglas vote consistently on the liberal side. Frankfurter, compared with them, has been pretty much a conservative since he went on the court in 1939.

The opportunity which came to Kennedy last week to name Byron R. White to the court to succeed Justice Charles E. Whittaker was unusual, as the averages go. Whittaker had served only five years. The average time on the court for all 83 justices from the beginning has been 16 years.

The nine-man court which Whittaker just left has been pretty much split between liberals and conservatives, with some little shifting around on individual cases they decided.

While not much is publicly known about White, even though he had been deputy attorney general a year, it's unlikely he will run with the conservatives for an obvious reason.

Kennedy's programs, while neither as suddenly new or startling as those of President Franklin D. Roosevelt in his early New Deal days, are more or less liberal. It might be nice to think a president—at least one as active as Kennedy—is simply interested in picking the man most scholarly in the law without concern for his views.

That doesn't fit. At this time in American history it's a certainty Kennedy wouldn't pick for the court a Southern judge or lawyer who is also a segregationist.

If it is granted that he wouldn't do that, then it must be conceded a justice's viewpoint means something to the President. Then the only question left is how much a justice's viewpoint means to him.

The President hasn't discussed that publicly. But he has spoken highly of White's qualifications and said he was recommended by the American Bar Association

Higgins To Attend Folklore Meeting

Wallace Higgins, a teacher at Circleville High School, is scheduled to participate Saturday in the Ohio Folklore Society meeting in Columbus.

Higgins is secretary-treasurer of the organization. Kelsie B. Harder of Youngstown University is president and Claude Simpson of Ohio State University, vice president.

The Society will meet in Ohio State University's Denny Hall, room 346, Morning and afternoon sessions are planned.

for the appointment.

Warren, Black, Douglas and Justice William Brennan Jr. make up what has been called the liberal bloc on the court. On the conservative side were Frankfurter, and Justices Tom C. Clark, John M. Harlan, Potter Stewart and, generally, Whittaker.

Thus, if White's thinking is along liberal lines, he has tipped the balance toward the liberal side.

This would be undone if Warren, Black or Douglas quit—or if all three were to step down before 1965—and Kennedy replaced them with one or more conservatives. If Frankfurter quit and Kennedy replaced him with a liberal—and there was no other change—the balance of the court would be liberal.

But if Frankfurter quit and was replaced by a conservative—while the rest of the present court remained unchanged—there would still be some nip and tuck decisions.

There is, however, no sign that Warren, Black, Douglas or Frankfurter has it in mind to set out. The average age at which all 83 justices in American history left the bench through retirement or death has been 67½ years. Warren is 71, Black, 76, Frankfurter, 78.

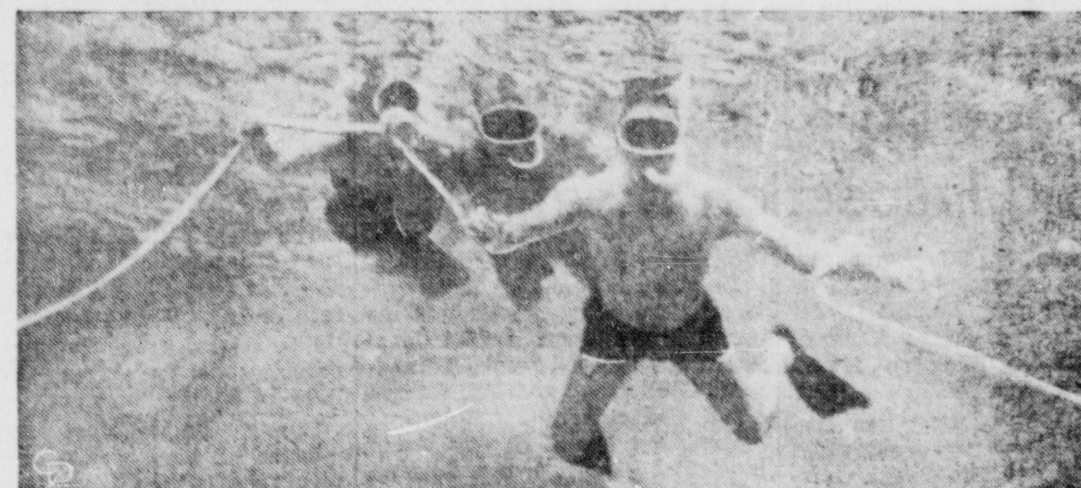

Black has already served 24 years, Frankfurter, 23 and Douglas 23—all well above the average of 16 years for all of the justices of the past.

Neither Warren, Black nor Frankfurter—all in the 70s—would be setting any record if they stayed another 10 years or so. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes was the oldest justice who ever served. He stayed till he was 91.

Dear Abby: He's Far Too Possessive

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 years old and am engaged to a very jealous boy. He insists on seeing me every night. When I come from work I have my washing and ironing to do, and I like to go to a movie with a girl friend once in a while. He allows me to have one night away from him every two weeks. And then he gives me the third degree about what I did and who I saw. I think I am entitled to one evening a week away from him. He says because we are engaged he is entitled to all my time. Is he right?

Stork Shower Given for Mrs. Rittinger

Mrs. Charles Rittinger was guest of honor Saturday evening at a stork shower given by Mrs. William Rhoades and Mrs. Dan Eitel at the home of Mrs. John Hooks, of Dublin Hill.

A pink and blue color scheme was featured and gifts were arranged in a bassinet guarded by a stork.

Games were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Glen McCoy and Mrs. Roy Rittinger. Mrs. McCoy presented her prize to the guest of honor.

Mrs. Rittinger received gifts from: Mrs. John Hooks, Mrs. Glen McCoy, Mrs. Gene Schleich, Mrs. Clyde Sims, Mrs. William Rhoades, Mrs. Doris Crites, Mrs. Jim Hooks, Mrs. Leonard Reisinger, Mrs. Homer Long, Mrs. Carl Morris, Mrs. Carl Anderson, Mrs. Dan Eitel.

Miss Sheila Eitel, Mrs. Charles Drummonds, Jr., Mrs. George Rowland, Miss Shirley Crites, Mrs. Roy Rittinger, Mrs. Marvin Rittinger.

Sending gifts were: Mrs. John Dunlap, Mrs. Clifford Bowser, Mrs. Jack Clark, Mrs. Clara Richards, Mrs. Donald Layton, Mrs. Roy Reisinger, Miss Lucy Mahoney, Miss Cinda Anderson, Miss Vivian Gifford, and Miss Nell Chester.

After the gifts were opened, refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Harding L. Smith and family, former Pickaway County residents, recently moved from Miami, Fla., to their new home at 1430 Lake Circle Drive, Titusville, Fla. Mr. Smith is now employed by the US Army Engineer Corps as a realty appraiser.

Patty Strous, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Strous, Route 1, Laurelville, a senior at Ohio University, is spending spring vacation with her roommate, Carolyn Creath, at her home in Lakeland, Fla.

Miss Linda Leist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Leist, 109 Seyfert Ave., has returned to Virginia Intermont College, Bristol, Va., after spending a week's vacation with her parents.

Joseph Adkins, a student at Kenyon College, and Miss Anne Adkins, a graduate student at a branch of John Hopkins University in Washington D. C., have returned to their studies following spring vacation. They are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Adkins Jr., Northridge Road.

DEAR OWNED: If this is a preview of how you two are going to get along after marriage, I suggest a LONG courtship. He is far too possessive, and you are justifiably resentful. A jealous fiancé makes a miserable husband. Forewarned is forearmed.

DEAR ABBY: Can you settle an argument that has been going on for 15 years? Should an anniversary be celebrated when one mate is dead? Or should you still go on sending gifts and cards to the one who is living? I say, what difference does it make? If one person is still living and able to say, "Today is my anniversary," then that person still has an anniversary. My wife says it takes two to celebrate an anniversary and it is not proper to celebrate it alone.

DEAR TIRED: Your wife is right. It takes TWO to celebrate an anniversary.

DEAR ABBY: I went with Joe for four years. I am 28 and he is 35. We were more than just friends, if you know what I mean. We had our good times, but I went through more misery than I care to talk about. He promised marriage, but it was only conversation. He was a liar and a cheat, but when a woman loves a man she'll overlook a lot. I finally made the break and, believe me, my love for him is dead. He owes me $300. In order to get it I will have to see him again. He didn't give me a "note or anything so I'm out of luck there. I don't want to start up with him again, but how else can I get my money?

LEARNED A LESSON
DEAR LEARNED: You learned a lesson, and it cost you $300. Forget the debt—and the debtor. I think you got off cheap.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SICK AT HEART: Forgive him. You never know when you might need the same kind of understanding.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Here's the Creole Method For Fixing Fresh Vegetables

By ALICE DENHOFF

Twenty-two of the choicest traditional dishes from the Creole country of Louisiana were served to members of the American Spice Trade Association and their food writer guests at a recent reception and dinner. And what a dinner it was!

We were very much interested in the superb vegetables, prepared with expert knowledge of many spices and herbs that add much to the authentic Creole cuisine.

Here are some of the recipes.

ASPARAGUS WITH BECHAMEL SAUCE

½ tsp. instant minced onion
2 slices carrot
½ bay leaf
½ tsp. parsley flakes
6 peppercorns
1 c. chicken stock
2 tsp. butter or margarine
2 tsp. flour
½ c. light cream or undiluted evaporated milk
½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. black pepper
¼ tsp. thyme
2 (12-oz.) pkgs. frozen asparagus or 2 lbs. cooked, fresh asparagus

Add first 5 ingredients to chicken stock. Simmer 20 min.; strain. There should be ½ cup. If not, add water to make measure.

Melt butter or margarine, remove from heat; blend in flour. Blend in stock, cream and seasonings. Stir and cook until of medium thickness.

Serve over hot cooked asparagus.

Enough for 6 to 8 servings.

And here's another novel and pleasing vegetable dish.

ACORN SQUASH AND APPLE SAUTE

3 acorn squash, medium size
1 bay leaf
½ tsp. celery seed
1 tsp. salt
½ c. water
3 red cooking apples
2 tsp. brown sugar
2 tsp. butter or margarine
Wash squash, trim ends and cut each into 4 crosswise slices.

Place in 9 in. skillet with bay leaf, celery seed, salt and water; cover, bring to boiling point; then reduce heat and simmer 15 min. or until squash is tender.

Wash and core unpeeled apples; cut each into 4 crosswise slices. Add to squash.

Sprinkle with brown sugar. Cook, uncovered, to evaporate water, 4 to 5 min.

Add butter or margarine; saute until squash and apples are golden and glazed.

Good with ham, pork or poultry. Serves 6 to 8.

If carrots seem an uninteresting vegetable, try them deviled.

DEVILED FRESH CARROTS

12 young tender carrots
½ c. butter or margarine
2 tsp. light brown sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. powdered mustard
¼ tsp. black pepper
Dash of cayenne

Wash carrots, peel and cut each in half lengthwise.

Saute in butter 5 min.

Add salt and spices. Cover and cook 10 min. or until tender.

Serve hot.

Serves 6.

Grated Parmesan cheese is, of course a goalong with spaghetti and tomato sauce. But try it sometimes in a tossed green salad or give zest to a white sauce.

Steep a few pinches of oregano in a few tablespoons of olive oil; brush the mixture over lamb chops before broiling.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

He's Far Too Possessive

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 years old and am engaged to a very jealous boy. He insists on seeing me every night. When I come from work I have my washing and ironing to do, and I like to go to a movie with a girl friend once in a while. He allows me to have one night away from him every two weeks. And then he gives me the third degree about what I did and who I saw. I think I am entitled to one evening a week away from him. He says because we are engaged he is entitled to all my time. Is he right?

OWNED

DEAR OWNED: If this is a preview of how you two are going to get along after marriage, I suggest a LONG courtship. He is far too possessive, and you are justifiably resentful. A jealous fiancé makes a miserable husband. Forewarned is forearmed.

DEAR ABBY: Can you settle an argument that has been going on for 15 years? Should an anniversary be celebrated when one mate is dead? Or should you still go on sending gifts and cards to the one who is living? I say, what difference does it make? If one person is still living and able to say, "Today is my anniversary," then that person still has an anniversary. My wife says it takes two to celebrate an anniversary and it is not proper to celebrate it alone.

TIED OF ARGUING
DEAR TIED: Your wife is right. It takes TWO to celebrate an anniversary..

DEAR ABBY: I went with Joe for four years. I am 28 and he is 35. We were more than just friends, if you know what I mean. We had our good times, but I went through more misery than I care to talk about. He promised marriage, but it was only conversation. He was a liar and a cheat, but when a woman loves a man she'll overlook a lot. I finally made the break and, believe me, my love for him is dead. He owes me $300. In order to get it I will have to see him again. He didn't give me a "note" or anything so I'm out of luck there. I don't want to start up with him again, but how else can I get my money?

LEARNED A LESSON
DEAR LEARNED: You learned a lesson, and it cost you $300. Forget the debt—and the debtor. I think you got off cheap.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SICK AT HEART: Forgive him. You never know when you might need the same kind of understanding.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Here's the Creole Method For Fixing Fresh Vegetables

By ALICE DENHOFF

Twenty-two of the choicest traditional dishes from the Creole country of Louisiana were served to members of the American Spice Trade Association and their food writer guests at a recent reception and dinner. And what a dinner it was!

We were very much interested in the superb vegetables, prepared with expert knowledge of many spices and herbs that add so much to the authentic Creole cuisine.

Here are some of the recipes.

½ tsp. instant minced onion
2 slices carrot
½ bay leaf
½ tsp. parsley flakes
6 peppercorns
1 c. chicken stock
2 tsp. butter or margarine
2 tsp. flour
½ c. light cream or undiluted evaporated milk
¼ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. black pepper
¼ tsp. thyme
2 (12-oz.) pkgs. frozen asparagus
or 2 lbs. cooked, fresh asparagus
Add first 5 ingredients to chicken stock. Simmer 20 min.; strain. There should be ½ cup. If not, add water to make measure.
Melt butter or margarine, remove from heat; blend in flour. Blend in stock, cream and seasonings. Stir and cook until of medium thickness.

Serve over hot cooked asparagus. Enough for 6 to 8 servings. And here's another novel and pleasing vegetable dish.

ACORN SQUASH AND APPLE SAUTE

3 acorn squash, medium size
1 bay leaf
½ tsp. celery seed
1 tsp. salt
½ c. water
3 red cooking apples
2 tsp. brown sugar
2 tsp. butter or margarine
Wash squash, trim ends and cut each into 4 crosswise slices. Place in 9 in. skillet with bay leaf, celery seed, salt and water; cover, bring to boiling point; then reduce heat and simmer 15 min. or until squash is tender. Wash and core unpeeled apples; cut each into 4 crosswise slices. Add to squash. Sprinkle with brown sugar. Cook, uncovered, to evaporate water, 4 to 5 min. Add butter or margarine; saute until squash and apples are golden and glazed. Good with ham, pork or poultry. Serves 6 to 8. If carrots seem an uninteresting vegetable, try them deviled. DEVILED FRESH CARROTS 12 young tender carrots ½ c. butter or margarine 2 tsp. light brown sugar ¼ tsp. salt 1 tsp. powdered mustard ¼ tsp. black pepper Dash of cayenne Wash carrots, peel and cut each in half lengthwise. Saute in butter 5 min. Add salt and spices. Cover and cook 10 min. or until tender. Serve hot. Serves 6.

Grated Parmesan cheese is, of course a goalong with spaghetti and tomato sauce. But try it sometimes in a tossed green salad or to give zest to a white sauce.

Steep a few pinches of oregano in a few tablespoons of olive oil; brush the mixture over lamb chops before broiling.

11 Tribe Hits Fail To Defeat Bosox

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians banged out 11 hits—including two each by Ty Cline, John Romano, Woodie Held and Dick Donovan—but still lost a 5-3 decision to the Boston Red Sox at Scottsdale Monday. It was the Indians 16th defeat in 24 exhibition games.

The Indians and Red Sox open the season in Boston a week from today.

Donovan, probably the Tribe's opening day hurler, worked into the seventh inning and allowed four runs. He left with two on and two out and lefty Don Rudolph gave up a tie-breaking single to Lou Clinton.

3 Geauga Children Killed in Home Fire

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — Three small children taking a nap perished in a fire in an upstairs bedroom at their home in nearby Middlefield Monday.

Their mother, asleep on a living room couch, was awakened by smoke. She raced upstairs and tried to reach the children, but the door to their bedroom stuck.

Pronounced dead of suffocation at Geauga Community Hospital were Bryan Lee, 4; Tamara Marie, 3; and Craig Eugene, 1½, all children of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Smith.

Downes' Aide Says Only KO Will Beat 'Boston Decision'

BOSTON (AP)—Terry Downes' manager says the only way the disputed middleweight champion can—and will—beat Paul Pender and the "Boston decision" is by knockout.

Sam Burns, astute pilot of London's boxing bookmaker, made the remarks today as both fighters were scheduled to complete sparring for Saturday night's 15-round title go at Boston Garden.

The action will be televised nationally—ABC-TV, 10 p.m., EST.

This will be the third and rubber match between Downes, 25, the Englishman who learned boxing while serving in the U.S. Marines, and Pender, 31, ex-fireman from suburban Brookline. The difference is that Pender entered the first two bouts owning the 160-pound crown recognized in Massachusetts, New York and Europe.

"The only way my champion can beat Pender is by knockout," Burns said. "You can quote me. No point fooling ourselves about it, now, is there?"

"Call it subconscious, call it what you will, you know blamed well that the officials next Saturday night aren't going to give it to my champion unless he flattens Pender."

"Possibly I'm brainwashed. Everywhere you go you hear the same thing—the Boston decision."

Wrongly or rightly, this last term is tossed around freely by out-of-town fight camps to the disgust of the Massachusetts Boxing Commission.

The "Boston decision" was given as the reason the Floyd Patterson-Tom McNeely heavyweight title fight went to Toronto instead of McNeely's home arena. Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato, wanted no part of Massachusetts officials.

Brain Injury Kills Paret

Cuban Boxer Dies After 9-Day Coma

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny (Kid) Paret died today—after more than nine days in a coma from brain injuries suffered in losing his world welterweight boxing title.

Death came at 1:55 a.m. at Roosevelt Hospital.

Paret, 25, had developed pneumonia Monday, and the coma deepened.

Doctors had held little hope for his recovery since he was battered senseless by Emile Griffith on March 24.

Paret's brother, Antonio, and his manager, Manuel Alfaro, were with him when he died.

His pregnant wife, Lucy, 23, and his mother, Maxima Crespo, were notified of his death and returned to the hospital about 2:30 a.m. The wife had come here from Miami and the mother from Cuba to keep a vigil at the hospital. Mrs. Paret brought their son, Benny Jr., 2, with her from Miami.

As soon as the death was announced, New York City police started a formal investigation, which is routine in all such cases. An informal police investigation had been going on since Paret was carried unconscious from the ring.

The Cuban-born boxer underwent a three-hour brain operation for removal of a blood clot early on the morning after the televised fight. Doctors said "all that can be done has been done."

Chances for his survival were reported as extremely slim from the time he arrived at the hospital, some 45 minutes after the knockout.

Paret's wife, who had urged her husband to give up fighting after he was knocked out by Griffith in their first meeting a year ago, flew to New York from Miami a week ago Sunday. She saw the fatal bout on television.

Fingerprints Sought In Store Holdup Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police sought fingerprints in a car abandoned by three men who robbed an S. S. Kresge Co. employee of between $1,500 and $2,000 in front of a Cleveland Trust Co. branch Monday. Thomas Buit, 27, told police the three men jumped him and fled with a canvas bag containing the store's receipts. He gave police the number of the getaway car, which was found later.

Nicklaus Says He May Win U.S. Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—"I think I've got a good chance of winning it."

With these words, bristling with confidence, young Jack Nicklaus threw down the gauntlet to a collection of the world's finest golfers who moved into their final tuneups today for the 26th Masters Tournament, beginning Thursday.

"I love this course—it is my kind of course," Nicklaus added, waving a husky arm in the direction of Augusta National's pine-framed fairway. "I feel wonderful. I don't know when I have been more ready for a tournament."

These may sound like brash words from a young man of 21, a collegian a year ago and a pro of less than six months, but they are sentiments shared by many observers and golfers alike — gathered here for the big spring golf show.

Arnold Palmer, winner in 1958 and 1960, and defending champion Gary Player of South Africa are the top favorites but no one is discounting the chances of the 205-pound, tow-headed Tazman.

Warriors Claim Bench Is Weak

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Coach Frank McGuire of Philadelphia, sizing up tonight's crucial National Basketball Association playoff game against Boston, said the Warriors must win tonight to stay in the Eastern Division final playoffs. "We've only had six (front line players) all year with Tom Gola out (sprained right ankle) we're down to five."

The Celtics, in quest of their fourth straight NBA title, lead the best-of-seven series 3 games to 2.

Purkey Looks Like Starter For Redlegs

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—If you want to look ahead just a week, it's a good bet Bob Purkey will be the Cincinnati Reds' pitcher to face Philadelphia in the opening season game at Crosley Field.

His performance Monday was one of the clinchers. He gave up only four hits in leading the National League champs to a 5-2 exhibition victory over the New York Mets. And the round-faced right-hander with the deceptive knuckleball went all the way for the Reds for the first time this season.

After winning 16 games last year, he has high hopes of crashing the 20-game circle.

The Reds, who break camp Wednesday for the barnstorming trip home, also trimmed down to the required 28 players Monday by sending three pitchers and a shortstop to their San Diego farm team.

Jim Maloney, 21, and Ken Hunt, 23, both right-handers, were sent off to the Padres on 24-hour option, along with infielder Chico Ruiz and southpaw Bob Risenhoover.

Cincinnati moved on to St. Petersburg today for the second of two exhibition games against Minnesota's American League Twins.

Frank Lary's 23 victories during the 1961 season was the highest by a Detroit Tiger pitcher since Hal Newhouser won 26 in 1946.

Indians Try Again To Find Top Pitchers

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians, who had been inactive in the trading market since Frank Lane left the wigwag, now have made two big deals since the end of the 1961 baseball season—both for veteran pitchers.

The latest deal, announced Monday, sent first baseman Vic Power and southpaw pitcher Dick Stigman to the Minnesota Twins in exchange for Pedro Ramos.

Last October, Cleveland General Manager Gabe Paul dealt outfielder Jimmy Piersall to the Washington Senators for pitcher Dick Donovan and infielders Gene Green and Jim Mahoney.

"We're not finished looking for pitchers and we're going to do everything possible to get another good one," Paul said.

To get Ramos, a sorely needed starting pitcher, who will be 27 this month, Cleveland gave up one of the game's greatest fielding first basemen—the 30-year-old Power. Stigman, 26, was selected for the American League's all-star team in 1960, but has compiled only a 7-16 record in two seasons. He has had arm troubles.

Ramos, who has been in the majors for seven years and owns a 78-112 lifetime record, has led the league in losses four times. But the Indians think he can do the job for them.

Pipers Hold Hopes Of Curbing Steers

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A day of rest and the return of two ailing guards give the Cleveland Pipers some hope of squaring things when they meet the Kansas City Stars tonight in the second game League playoffs.

Bill Sharman, Piper coach, said he plans to start Jimmy Darrow at guard in place of John Barnhill. Larry Siegfried, sidelined with a back injury, rejoined the squad Monday night. Darrow was on the wrong end of a punch thrown in an elimination game with New York Saturday night.

The Pipers dropped the first game of the championship playoff to the Steers 126-115 Sunday.

The series moves to Cleveland for the third game Wednesday night. The fourth, if necessary, will be in Cleveland Saturday night. The site for a fifth, if needed, hasn't been determined.

TEMPORARY INTERLUDE—Making sure the grass in the Polo Grounds will be greener for the New York Mets this year, workmen rebuild the outfield by placing blocks of sod. The Mets, new N. L. entry, will use the old Polo Grounds this year but a new home is being built at Flushing Meadows.

The Circleville Herald, Tues. April 3, 1962
Circleville, Ohio

Legion Baseball Forms Available

Chet Iery Sr., manager of the American Legion baseball team in Circleville, has announced that player applications are being accepted now.

Application blanks are available in all county high schools, the armory, the police department, Prairie Lanes, The Herald, the post office and the Legion Post. Boys 16 to 18 years old are eligible for American Legion baseball. Each applicant must present a birth certificate upon the try out date.

Iery said Circleville would have at least one team. If there are enough boys interested and if sponsors can be obtained there may be two local squads.

CIRCLEVILLE is in District No. 7 along with Chillicothe, Washington C. H. and Portsmouth.

Iery urged all applications be completed and submitted by the end of April. Try outs are set for early May.

Jackson Opens Season Today

Jackson High School opens their spring season today in a game with Scioto on the Jackson diamond.

Paul Hoskins, Jackson coach, announced that 11 boys reported for baseball this year. Of those 11 only one, Ronnie Clifton, a junior, has had experience, according to Hoskins.

Jackson is a young team made up largely of freshman and sophomores.

Clifton will start as pitcher and Dwight Whaley, sophomore, as catcher. Ed Martindale, sophomore will handle the chores on first base, Allen Hix, junior, will play second, Dale Rudd, sophomore, third and Bruce List, freshman, shortstop.

The other two squad members are Eddie Roy and Roger Ward.

College Grid TV Lineup Arranged

NEW YORK (AP) — Games involving seven members of the 1961 Associated Press Top Ten plus Notre Dame, Army, Navy and Air Force are included in the 1962 NCAA college football television schedule announced Monday night by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Thirty-seven schools are represented in the schedule, which begins Sept. 15 and ends Dec. 8. There will be 14 television dates, nine for national television and five for regional telecasts. Three games are listed on each of the so-called "regional" Saturdays.

The schedule, which begins with Miami at Pitt, includes an appearance for Alabama, top-ranked in the final 1961 AP football poll, as well as these other powers from last season—Ohio State, No. 2, Texas, No. 3, LSU, No. 4, Minnesota, No. 6, Michigan State, No. 8, and Utah State, No. 10.

GIFF RETURNS — Frank Gifford, star running back who retired from the New York Giants last season, hugs Giant coach Allie Sherman (right) after signing as a player for the 1962 season.

Downes' Aide Says Only KO Will Beat 'Boston Decision'

BOSTON (AP)—Terry Downes' manager says the only way the disputed middleweight champion can—and will—beat Paul Pender and the "Boston decision" is by knockout.

Sam Burns, astute pilot of London's boxing bookmaker, made the remarks today as both fighters were scheduled to complete sparring for Saturday night's 15-round title go at Boston Garden. The action will be televised nationally—ABC-TV, 10 p.m., EST.

This will be the third and rubber match between Downes, 25, only one, Ronnie Clifton, a junior, has had experience, according to Hoskins.

Jackson is a young team made up largely of freshman and sophomores.

Clifton will start as pitcher and Dwight Whaley, sophomore, as catcher. Ed Martindale, sophomore will handle the chores on first base, Allen Hix, junior, will play second, Dale Rudd, sophomore, third and Bruce List, freshman, shortstop.

Brain Injury Kills Paret

Cuban Boxer Dies After 9-Day Coma

NEW YORK (AP) — Benny (Kid) Paret died today—after more than nine days in a coma from brain injuries suffered in losing his world welterweight boxing title.

Death came at 1:55 a.m. at Roosevelt Hospital.

Paret, 25, had developed pneumonia Monday, and the coma deepened.

Doctors had held little hope for his recovery since he was battered senseless by Emile Griffith on March 24.

Paret's brother, Antonio, and his manager, Manuel Alfaro, were with him when he died.

His pregnant wife, Lucy, 23, and his mother, Maxima Crespo, were notified of his death and returned to the hospital about 2:30 a.m. The wife had come here from Miami and the mother from Cuba to keep a vigil at the hospital. Mrs. Paret brought their son, Benny Jr., 2, with her from Miami.

from Columbus, Ohio, who gave up his throne as a king of the amateurs to go after the rich deposits of the pro tour.

In four tuneup rounds so far over the par-72 Augusta National Course, a layout whose broad fairways give the slugger plenty of hitting room, Nicklaus has had rounds of 67-71-69-73 without pressing. Only four times has a champion won here with a score better than 280. Ben Hogan's 274 in 1953 is the record.

BIG "A" FOR EFFORT - - - By Alan Mauer

Chisox Showing Their Old Go-Go

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They've put the go-go back in Chicago's White Sox.

The patented peck-away-at-'em attack is lifting eyebrows along baseball's exhibition trail, where the White Sox have reeled off six consecutive victories—the latest a 5-1 triumph over Kansas City at Sarasota Monday.

Outside contenders for the American League throne room, the White Sox could unlock the door with a successful combination of their pesky hitting habits and tight pitching performances.

Rookie Joel Horlen, promoted from San Diego after posting a 12-9 record with a sparkling 2.51 earned run average, took care of the pitching end against the A's. The 24-year-old right-hander went six hitless innings before being touched for a lone run.

The hitters continued their exploits without the aid of the home run weapon, stroking nine hits to win it. The White Sox now have scored 44 runs on 64 hits in their six games—with only two bases-empty homers in the output.

The Sox pushed across three runs in the second on four hits, including doubles by Mike Hershberger and Jim Landis, then added two more in the fifth on a double by Gerry McNertney and singles by Luis Aparicio and Nellie Fox.

The victory gave the White Sox a 14-8 record, right behind the New York Yankees in the American League standings. The world champions boosted their mark to 15-7 by defeating Minnesota 9-6 at Orlando.

Horlen clinched the cactus league championship among those teams training in Arizona and California and also moved into the top spot in the NL standings with a 14-7 record by downing Milwaukee 8-3 at Apache Junction.

In other games, Cincinnati beat the New York Mets 5-2 at St. Petersburg, the Angels edged the Dodgers 6-5 at Palm Springs in the first meeting between the Los Angeles clubs, Boston bopped Cleveland 5-3 at Scottsdale, St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 7-3 at Clearwater and Baltimore took care of Pittsburgh 7-1 in a night game at Miami.

The A's got to Horlen in the seventh for two hits, triples by Bobby Del Greco and Norm Siebern, for their only run. Turk Lown completed a three-hitter. The Yankees used a two-run RBI single by Hector Lopez and an RBI single by Joe Pepitone in the ninth to beat the Twins after Roger Maris' homer built an early lead.

Dick Farrell and Bob Tiefenauer spaced nine Braves' hits while the Colts went ahead to stay with a four-run outburst in the third on four hits, including Bob Aspromonte's double. Bob Purkey became the first Reds' pitcher to go nine, checking the Mets on four hits. Batterymate Johnny Edwards provided the power with two homers and a single for three RBIs.

The Angels tied the Dodgers in the eighth on Albie Pearson's three-run homer and won it in the ninth when Joe Koppe drove in Leon Wagner with a single. Lu Clinton stroked a pinch-hit RBI single in the seventh as the Red Sox went in front, then reliever Bill Monbouquette protected the edge against the Indians.

A four-run spurt in the first inning gave the Cards enough to whip the Phils behind the six-hit pitching of Ray Sadecki and Curt Simmons. The Orioles' Billy Hoff gave up six hits and the Pirates' Bob Friend eight as both went nine innings. Shortstop Ron Hansen, on leave from the Army, stroked a two-run single in the second for the runs Baltimore needed.

PASSING THE AMMUNITION—Billy Hitchcock (right), the new manager of the Baltimore Orioles, gives his slugger star, Jim Gentile, an armload of weapons as the Birds began training at Miami, Fla.

Cockney Ready To Test Pender

Foe's Home Town Fails To Discourage Boxer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beating Paul Pender in his home town of Boston is about as tough a job as selling ice cream at the North Pole but Terry Downes, the confident Cockney, thinks he can turn the trick.

"I'll get him in about eight rounds," predicts Downes, who won New York, Massachusetts and European recognition as world middleweight champion by stopping Pender at London last July 11.

The two meet in their third title fight at the Boston Garden Saturday night in a 15-rounder.

Pender scored the first victory when he split Terry's nose and won on a seventh round technical knockout at Boston, Jan. 14, 1961.

That was Pender's fourth victory in four title fights—all at Boston.

Downes, who learned to fight while serving in the U.S. Marines, has won three straight fights—all by knockouts—and now has a 28-7 won-lost record. He has 24 knockouts to his credit. He has been stopped five times on cuts.

Pender, 31, had won 14 straight fights over a 4½-year span until he lost to Downes in London. His record is 39-6-2 including 20 knockouts. He has been stopped three times.

The winner probably will meet Gene Fullmer, the NBA-recognized champion from West Jordan, Utah, in a title-deciding bout.

Michaels Quits Cleveland Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Walter Michaels, 11-year veteran of the National Football League, said Monday night he is quitting the Cleveland Browns.

"I'm flying to San Francisco today," the veteran linebacker said. "There is a contract as defensive coach of the Oakland Raiders waiting for me there."

"I'm anxious to get started right away and make the Raiders defense the best in the league."

The Raiders are in the American Football League, which will be heading into its third season.

Michaels, 32, regular right side linebacker and defensive signal caller, indicated he was quitting because of a salary dispute. He said he talked with Paul Brown, Cleveland coach and general manager, briefly Monday but got no satisfaction.

Laboratory Technician's Death Slated for Probe

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County officials plan an autopsy to determine the cause of death of Marilyn McGucken, 28, a children's hospital laboratory technician. Police said she was found dead at her hospital desk Monday after apparently inhaling chloroform deliberately.

Cockney Ready To Test Pender

Foe's Home Town Fails To Discourage Boxer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beating Paul Pender in his home town of Boston is about as tough a job as selling ice cream in the North Pole but Terry Downes, the confident Cockney, thinks he can turn the trick.

"I'll get him in about eight rounds," predicts Downes, who won New York, Massachusetts and European recognition as world middleweight champion by stopping Pender at London last July 11.

The two meet in their third title fight at the Boston Garden Saturday night in a 15-rounder. Pender scored the first victory when he split Terry's nose and won on a seventh round technical knockout at Boston, Jan. 14, 1961. That was Pender's fourth victory in four title fights—all at Boston. Downes, who learned to fight while serving in the U.S. Marines, has won three straight fights—all by knockouts—and now has a 28-7 won-lost record. He has 24 knockouts to his credit. He has been stopped five times on cuts.

Pender, 31, had won 14 straight fights over a 4½-year span until he lost to Downes in London. His record is 39-6-2 including 20 knockouts. He has been stopped three times.

The winner probably will meet Gene Fullmer, the NBA-recognized champion from West Jordan, Utah, in a title-deciding bout.

Michaels Quits Cleveland Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Walter Michaels, 11-year veteran of the National Football League, said Monday night he is quitting the Cleveland Browns.

"I'm flying to San Francisco today," the veteran linebacker said. "There is a contract as defensive coach of the Oakland Raiders waiting for me there."

"I'm anxious to get started right away and make the Raiders defense the best in the league." Michaels, 32, regular right side linebacker and defensive signal caller, indicated he was quitting because of a salary dispute. He said he talked with Paul Brown, Cleveland coach and general manager, briefly Monday but got no satisfaction.

10,000 Allied Gls Given Test

BERLIN (AP)—Ten thousand men of West Berlin's Allied garrisons rushed to combat positions early today for a test of alertness.

The exercise roused out most of the American, British and French soldiers in West Berlin. It was the largest operational test undertaken since the building of the Berlin wall last summer.

Three American battle groups, three battalions of British infantry and a French brigade, plus supporting tanks and armored cars rolled through the streets.

The Allies said the test was designed to evaluate the mobility of the units and their ability to react to various situations.

American troops had breakfast in the field and returned to their barracks nearly five hours after being alerted. British and French troops pulled back earlier, after being deployed for three hours.

While some of the Western units were still in the field, MIG jet fighters of either the Soviet or East German air forces flew overhead.

Long vapor trails could be seen in the clear blue sky. Sonic booms shook the center of the city as the jets smashed through the sound barrier.

In another military activity, the U.S. Army sent a platoon of infantry rolling along the autobahn line to West Germany. The Army said that the platoon, from Co. A, 3rd Battle Group, 6th Infantry, was going to the West for a brief training period.

Such troop movements are frequently made along the 110 miles of highway across Communist

East Germany to demonstrate Western rights to road access to Berlin.

Big maneuvers by the East German army were concluded at the beginning of the week, the East German news agency ADN reported today. The agency said the exercise displayed exemplary combat morale and constant readiness for action.

The agency did not give the location of the exercise, the number of troops involved or how long it lasted.

McElroy Raps 'Ghettos' for Ohio Negroes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, lashed out Monday against "Negro ghettos" which he claimed make for segregated, inferior education in Ohio.

McElroy, speaking here before the Baptist Ministerial Alliance at the Shiloh Baptist Church, urged a fair housing bill. Quoting the Ohio Advisory Committee to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, he said, "Housing discrimination lies at the root of much of the inequity to which Negroes in Ohio continue to be subjected."

"The severe overcrowding that is inherent in any ghetto breeds juvenile delinquency and crime. This condition adds to the vicious cycle of discrimination . . . which makes it difficult for an American Negro to attain a standard of living which most Americans take for granted."

The attorney general blamed the problem on a lack of housing financing for Negroes. "Banks and other lending agencies refuse to make real estate loans to Negroes except in neighborhoods that are less than 30 per cent white," he asserted.

Idle Pay OK'd By Judge in Pregnancies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Common Pleas Court Judge Joseph H. Silbert has ruled that women employees forced to take leaves of absence in early pregnancy are entitled to unemployment compensation.

His ruling Monday was in favor of Mrs. Alva J. Martin, a waitress at Hotel Sheraton-Cleveland, and Mrs. Helen May Dallas, a clerk-cashier with the A&P.

One was in her third month of pregnancy, the other in her fourth, according to court records. Judge Silbert found that under state law women could work until their seventh month.

Mrs. Martin testified to the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation that she felt healthy and was willing to work when she was forced to take a leave.

Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Dallas had been allowed jobless pay by the BUC administrator on the grounds they had been discharged for something not connected with their work. This had been reversed however, in an appeal to the BUC's Board of Review.

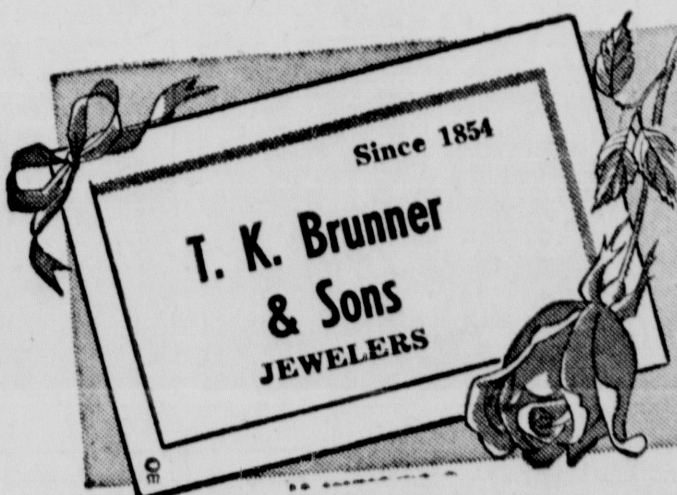

The administrator then appealed his reversal to Common Pleas Court.

Neither woman actually was discharged and both returned to work after the births.

A Message to people who suspect they have Hard Water

FROM

John Dougherty

At this very moment the plumbing system of your home may be undergoing serious damage due to hard water! Your Lindsay dealer has the results of the studies made of this problem in the hard water areas of the nation.

These results not only indicate that hard water often means costly repair bills, but that soaps and detergents are wasted, clothing fibers are clogged and sometimes damaged, and undesirable soap curds interfere with dishwashing, shaving and bathing.

What to do about it? First find out just how hard your water supply is. You can do-it-yourself with a new Water Testing Kit that is YOURS FOR THE ASKING at your Lindsay dealer. For your FREE home testing kit just drop us a postcard or give us a call.
